CIVIL RIGHTS FIGHT OPENS

Soviet Bosses Leave Today for Czechoslovakia

To Explain Ouster of Three 'Old Guard' Communist Leaders

MOSCOW (UP) — Nikita E. Krushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin leave today for Czechoslovakia to explain to East Europeans the ouster of three "old guard" Communist leaders and their links with the mass purges of the 1930s.

Khrushchev and Bulganin, the indefatigable globetrotters of Communism, were leaving by plane for their postponed visit. They were to have left last week but postponed the trip because of the shake-up of the top Soviet leadership.

The two leaders were fresh from a visit to Leningrad were Khrushchev leveled the grave new charges Saturday against Georgi Malenkov, Vyacheslav M. Molotov and Lazar Kaganovich — charges played up in the Moscow press.

Accuses Malenkov

First Khrushchev accused Malenkov, a former prime minister, with being the prime organizer in the notorious "Leningrad case" of false arrests and executions.

Then former President Nikolai Shvernik, now chairman of the party control commission that is responsible for party expulsions, extended the blame for the purges of the '30s to Molotov and Kaganovich as well.

He told workers that "violations of revolutionary legality permitted by Malenkov, Kaganovich and Molotov during the period of mass repressions have been rectified."

Like Khrushchev, Shvernik accused Malenkov of playing a major role in the Leningrad case and said all three secretly plotted to place their men in key posts and to seize power in the party and country."

To Rectify Errors

Shvernik said the Communists would continue patiently and attentively to rectify the errors generated by the cult of the personality—an indication of an intensified de-Stalinization campaign accompanied by more liberal legal reforms.

Western observers said the Khrushchev - Bulganin trip to Czechoslovakia had taken on added significance as result of the disgrace of Malenkov, Molotov and Kaganovich and the firing of Dimitri Shepilov with them.

The observers said Khrushchev and Bulganin were in a considerably stronger position than they were last month when they made their last trip abroad, to Finland. The Czech trip is the first of a series aimed at repaying visits made by foreign Communist leaders during the course of the past year.

Luxury Liner Strikes Reef

LIVERPOOL, England (UP) The British luxury liner Reina del Pacifico crashed into a reef off Bermuda today, its owners reported.

The headquarters of the Pacific Steam Navigation Co., reported here that, a brief radio report from the 17,282 - ton liner's captain did not indicate there was any major damage.

One report reaching London from Bermuda said the ship was "listing badly."

The Reina del Pacifico Queen of the Pacific was bound for Liverpool from Chile with about 700 passengers aboard. It left Havana, Cuba, on July 4 and was due here July 18.

Three Minor Motor Accidents Over Weekend

Three minor motor accidents occurred on Monessen streets over the weekend, police reported today.

Richard V. Salotti, of 1061 Graham Ave., Monessen, and Merrill Hudson, of 544 Meldon Ave., Donora, were the drivers involved in an accident about 2:30 yesterday morning on Donner Ave. between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, cars driven by Pauline Wanzilak, of 942 Lookout Ave., Monessen, and Thomas Barruso, of 301 Fayette St., Belle Vernon, collided at the intersection of Watkins Ave. and Grand Blvd.

Sally Kachmarik, of 625 Rostraver St., Monessen, told police she was traveling east on Schoonmaker Ave. near 17th St. when the brakes on her car failed, causing the machine to strike a parked car belonging to Nick Alatsis, of R. D. 1, Belle Vernon.

Five Charleroi Persons Pay Gambling Tax

Five Charleroi persons were among the 39 Pittsburgh district gamblers who paid the federal $50 wagering stamp tax by July 1.

In addition, they must turn over 10 per cent of their earnings on bets to the government.

Since 1951, those in the gambling business, by an order of Congress, must register their profession by July 1 of each year.

Charleroi gamblers buying stamps were:

Steve Kerestesi, and Frank Mollis, of Central Recreation, 517 McKean Ave.; Joseph and Violatta Santoni, Joe's Dairy Bar, 637 Fallowfield Ave., and Gust Paizos, of 801 McKean Ave.

Albert Pauline, of Bentleyville, also bought the stamp.

Monessen Law Firm Gives to Judge Candidates

The law firm of Weiss & Shire, of 529 Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen, was one of the top financial contributors to the primary election campaign of Westmoreland County Judge Edward G. Bauer.

The list of contributions on record at the courthouse showed that Attys. David H. Weiss and Bernard S. Shire, partners, contributed $800.

Atty P. K. Jones, of New Kensington, led the list of contributors for Bauer, giving $1,500. W. P. Nowe, also of New Kensington, gave $500.

Bauer listed $5,570 in contributions, which ranged from $50 to Jones' $1,500.

Weiss and Shire led the list of contributors to the judgeship campaign of District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, of New Kensington. They gave $500. Next high was the $300 given by Anthony J. Bonadio, New Kensington city solicitor. Sculco listed his contributions at $4,150.

Joseph M. Loughran, former assistant DA who ran for judge, listed a contribution of $2,500 from Anthony C. Markitell. Loughran's total contributions were $4,300.

Avra N. Pershing, Republican, listed no donations in his campaign for judge, while Robert H. Rial, Republican judge candidate, listed $300 from Mr. and Mrs. C. McKenna Lynch.

Fishing Equipment Stolen from Auto

Walter Waggoner, of 416 Donner Ave., Monessen, told police someone took two fishing poles and a fishing box from his car while it was parked on Fourth St.

He reported the theft yesterday.

Thomas McKee Post Legion meeting tomorrow evening at Post Home.

Stockdale Child Is Car Victim

A few minutes after prettily-dressed Mary Ann Gialames, aged 2, was returning home from a neighbor's birthday party, she broke loose from her mother's grip, darted in front of an oncoming machine and was killed.

The tiny Stockdale girl died instantly of multiple injuries.

Police said Mary Ann and her mother, Mrs. Theodore Gialames, were returning home from the party when the mother, tenderly gripping her daughter's hand, stopped to talk with a neighbor across the street from the Gialames home.

Seconds later, the little girl broke loose and darted between two parked cars. She was struck by an oncoming car and hurled to the street.

Police identified the driver as Peter Mihealsick, 26, also of Stockdale. The driver and the mother rushed her to a doctor's office where she died five minutes later.

Had no Time

Mihealsick said he did not have time to stop when he saw a flash of color — the girl's brightly colored dress — in his path.

Authorities said "it happened so fast" that none of the many persons in the vicinity realized immediately what had taken place.

Chief of Police Ernest Astle, of Stockdale, a small community on Route 88 between Charleroi and California, said it was an unavoidable accident. He also said there would be no inquest.

The victim was born Oct. 7, 1954. Besides her mother and father, a millworker, she is survived by two brothers, Theodore, Jr., and Peter.

Donora Man Is Killed in Fall On Steep Steps

A Donora man, James Stark, 56, of 427 Prospect St., died about six o'clock yesterday morning from a fractured skull suffered when he fell down steep concrete steps on Fifth Ave. near Thompson Ave. in Donora.

According to police, Stark was walking from his home toward downtown Donora when he apparently lost his footing and tumbled down the steps, striking his head.

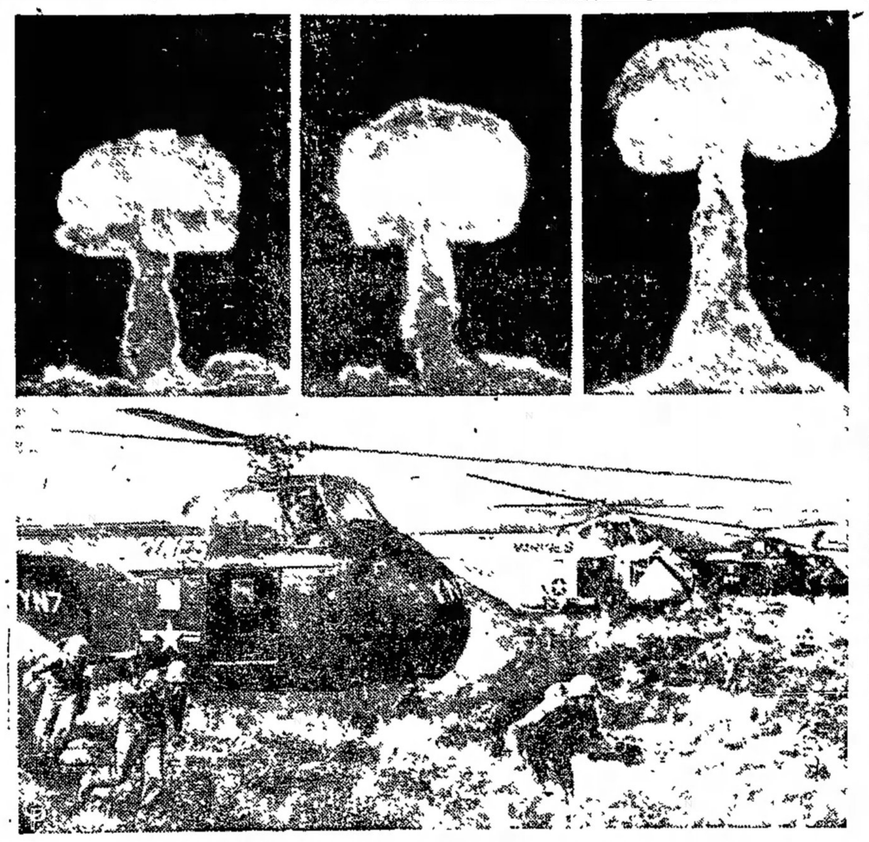
Two unidentified youths saw him lying on the steps and summoned police.

He was pronounced dead in the ambulance taking him to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

He was an employe of U. S. Steel's American Steel and Wire Division plant in Donora.

He is survived by his wife, Roseanne; a son, Alex Barton, of Fayette City; stepmother, Mrs. Mry Stark, of Donora; two brothers, Sam, of Detroit, Mich., and Andrew, of Donora, and a sister, Mary Stark, of Scotland. The victim was a native of Scotland.

Friends are being received at the DeRienzo Funeral Home, Donora, where services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m.



MARINES AND HELICOPTERS ON HOT 'BEACH' — Marines of the 4th Provisional Atomic Brigade race from their helicopters that ferried them to advanced positions after the blast (top) of the largest atomic bomb ever touched off in the United States at Yucca Flat, Nevada. The Marines were in trenches 5,700 yards from ground zero when the "big apple" let go. The eggbeaters then carried them to their objective under the big mushroom.

Holiday Traffic Toll Below Predicted Figure; 418 Dead

By UNITED PRESS

The National Safety Council today took a look at the number of traffic deaths during the July 4 holiday period and said that motorists and law enforcement agencies had done well.

"The 4th of July toll not only was held far below the pre-holiday estimate of 535 but below the 465 that a non-holiday period of the same number of hours would be expected to bring," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council.

Dearborn issued his statement at mid-morning.

With only scattered accident reports still to be counted, a United Press survey showed that between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Sunday, 418 persons died in highway accidents. Drownings took 206 lives, fireworks accidents 3, plane crashes 16 and miscellaneous mishaps 69, for an overall total of 712.

California had more than one-tenth of the holiday deaths, with 47. New York had 32, Pennsylvania 29, Ohio 28, Texas 24, Michigan 19, Mississippi 18, and Illinois 16.

Battles Took Less

The deaths in the period of a little more than three days were more than were suffered by American forces in some of the battles which helped win the independence that Americans were celebrating. But, comparatively, the figure encouraged the safety council and law enforcement agencies who have been trying to stem a holiday surge in the annual toll of death.

The all-time record for traffic deaths during the Independence Day holiday was 501, set in 1950.

This was the second straight holiday in which motorists scored a life saving record on the highways. Traffic deaths also ran near normal and far below estimates during the Memorial Day holiday.

Three states, Nevada, Rhode Island and Delaware, recorded no traffic deaths for the holiday.

Two fiery auto collisions Sunday killed a total of 16 persons and left another injured critically.

Mishap Kills Nine

Nine persons were killed in the holiday's worst smashup near Oxford, Miss. Seven persons, including three small children, died in a collision near Newhall, Calif.

The Oxford accident, one of the worst in motoring history, occurred on Mississippi State Highway 6 in the early morning hours. Both cars burst into flames after the collision. The only survivor was injured too critically to be questioned about the wreck.

There were no survivors in the head-on collision near Newhall. The cars, one of which contained five members of one family, exploded in flames shortly after the wreck.

Firemen meet at Third St. Fire Station 7:30 p. m. Tuesday to go to pay respects to Mrs. Anna Lastoka, mother of brother fireman, Joseph Lastoka.

Wheeling Race Track to Open On Wednesday

WHEELING, W.Va. (UP)—The Hazel Park Racing Assn. will open Wheeling Downs for business Wednesday after a lapse of eight months because of tax difficulties with the government by the Down's former owner, William G. (Big Bill) Lias.

Thoroughbreds will parade to the post for the first of nine races starting at 2:15 p.m. e.d.t., the first time they have answered the bugler's call since the 1956 fall meeting closed in November.

A proposed spring meeting under Lias' direction was called off by Federal Judge Harry Watkins because of declining revenue.

The track was sold to the Hazel Park group for $1,780,000 at public auction to help satisfy government tax claims of some $3,285,000 against Lias.

The former bootlegger and gambler, who owned the major interest in the beautiful half-mile oval said he could have sold it privately for $2,500,000.

Pittsburgh Steel Picnic Called 'Huge Success'

Despite rain in the late afternoon, the first picnic sponsored jointly by Pittsburgh Steel Co. and Pittsburgh Steel Monessen Local 1229, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO) Saturday was termed a "huge success" by Stephen Mahovlich, general chairman.

Thousands of steelworkers and their families attended the outing held at Rainbow Gardens, an amusement park in McKeesport.

Free bus transportation was offered to and from the park. There was no charge for amusement rides for members and their families. Free coffee and prizes also featured the event.

Gimbel Heir Dies Of Cancer at 29

NEW YORK (UP) — David A. Gimbel, 29, son of the head of Gimbel Brothers Department Store, died Sunday of cancer at Memorial Hospital.

During his Army service, Gimbel was one of the soldiers assigned to guard Japan's Emperor Hirohito after World War II.

New Signs of Slowing Down of Inflation Boom

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Commerce Department reported today new signs that the inflationary buying boom is slowing down.

The value of goods on the shelves of U.S. manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers increased by 400 million dollars, under the department's seasonally-adjusted accounting system, to a total of $90,100,000,000.

This was a larger gain in inventories than in earlier months of the year.

Manufacturers' inventories in May rose about four billion dollars above the figure of one year ago. Retailers' stocks also were up, but wholesalers' inventories were down.

Automobiles accounted for about one-third of the increase in unsold goods.

Meanwhile, manufacturers' sales in May remained about the same as in April. They totaled more than 29 billion dollars, or about five per cent higher than a year ago, the Commerce Department said.

Officials saw the stabilization of sales and the increase in inventories as an anti-inflationary trend.

Democrats Plan Filibuster to Block Passage

WASHINGTON (UP) — An historic showdown over civil rights begins in the Senate today under the shadow of a threatened massive filibuster by southern opponents.

Backers of the racial rights legislation were hopeful for the first time in years of ultimate success.

The epic battle gets under way this afternoon with a motion by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) to begin consideration of the House - approved administration bill.

The motion was expected to signal the start of a "discussion" by southern Democrats that promises to become a filibuster that will keep the Senate tied up four to eight weeks and toss on the scrap heap much of President Eisenhower's remaining legislative program.

However, there were signs the real, round-the-clock phase of the talkathon might be delayed for days or weeks. Southerners have indicated they may not stage an all-out filibuster against the mere motion to take up the bill.

Four-Point Bill

This would permit a vote by the end of this week that would put the bill itself before the Senate, as Knowland hopes. All-night sessions then probably would be postponed for another week or so.

Such a vote undoubtedly would be hailed as an initial victory by rights backers. But for the southerners, who have managed to defeat similar legislation since reconstruction days, it could be a strategic move to concentrate their forces on the all-out battle over the bill itself.

The President's four - point bill, modified somewhat by the House, would set up a special commission to investigate voting and other rights violations; establish a new civil rights division in the Justice Department headed by an assistant attorney general; prohibit private individuals, as well as officials, from interfering with Negro voting rights; and authorize the government to seek direct federal court action to forestall impending rights violations.

CD Test Alert Tonight, Tuesday

Civil Defense test warning sirens will be sounded in Monessen tonight and tomorrow night to acquaint residents with the signals.

At 7:15 each evening, the long steady "alert" signal will be sounded on local sirens, horns and whistles. The non - fluctuating sound will last from three to five minutes.

Fifteen minutes later, at 7:30, the "take cover" signal will be sounded. This will be a warbling siren tone or short blast on horns and whistles. This will last three minutes.

The public will not be required to take cover today or tomorrow. However, residents will be expected to take cover during the statewide alert Friday.

Fake Telephone Charges Liable To Prosecution

HARRISBURG (UP) — Persons who make long distance telephone calls and have them charged to fake or unauthorized numbers will be liable to prosecution under legislation signed today by Gov. George M. Leader.

The new law would make the practice a summary offense subject to $50 fine and court costs or a 30-day jail term on conviction. It becomes effective Sept. 1.

Leader also signed measures which would —Clarify the language and provisions of legislation relating to the proposed integration of federal social security with state retirement plans for state and school employes.

—Remove the 80 per cent of total salary limit in effect on state employes' retirement benefits.

—Prmit third through eighth class counties to appropriate funds to pay for the handling, storage and distribution of surplus foods obtained from state or federal agencies.

Bloom Claiming Leader Using 'Hate Campaign'

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom charged today Gov. George M. Leader had decided to make the Pennsylvania public utility companies the "scapegoat" in his "eagerness" to reach the U. S. Senate.

Bloom said the governor "never lets the facts stand in his way when he wants to stir up class hatred."

"That's what is back of his false and completely unfounded charge of an 18 million dollar sales tax giveaway to public utilities by the Republican Legislature," Bloom said in a statement released here today.

"The truth is that Gov. Leader is so eager to go to the U. S. Senate that he has decided to make a scapegoat of public utility companies."

Bloom added the "hate campaign" wouldn't hurt the utilities but warned that if it succeeded it would reduce job opportunities and increase unemployment.

Atomic Test Set Friday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has set Friday for the firing of the atomic device which failed to go off June 28 and was disarmed by five scientists.

The shot, called "Diablo," didn't go off because of a power failure. The AEC said such an incident would never happen again because an alarm system to warn of power failure would be installed into the device.

AEC scientists said Sunday that Diablo would be the seventh shot in the summer test series at the Nevada proving ground. They said it will be another pre-dawn shot scheduled to be detonated at 4:40 a.m., atop a 500-foot steel tower.

30 Stricken with Mild 'Polio Type'

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (UP)— Thirty persons have been stricken by an outbreak of a "mild type of polio" here during the past week, hospital authorities reported today.

Hospital Administrator Edgar Stohler said eight new patients suffering from the disease were admitted to the hospital Sunday. He said 15 of the earlier victims have been released.

Pinball Owners File Answers with Court

Three defendants involved in Fayette County's widely - publicized pinball machine case — which one attorney predicts will 'go to the Supreme Court" — filed answers to state police charges Saturday.

The answers make blanket denials that the 41 confiscated pinball machines are gambling devices in their own right.

The machines were seized June 20 in raids on business places in Brownsville.

In two of the answers, filed by Atty. William E. Duffield, Uniontown, and Atty. Lewis Glasso, Pittsburgh, the operators of the business places in which the machines were taken are listed as the clients.

The defendants are John Benko, of Uniontown's Pink Palace, and John Campbell, of the Uniontown Veterans of Foreign Wars Post

The other answer filed Saturday by Atty. Henry R. Beeson, Uniontown, is on behalf of the Vic and Al Amusement Co. of Connellsville, actual owners of a number of the devices.

One attorney involved said he felt additional answers might be filed today, deadline set by Judge Eustace H. Bane for retorts.

It is expected that Judge Bane will fix a date today for a hearing later this month at which the defense attorneys will produce arguments attempting to prove their contention. Judge Bane has said he expects to have the hearing over with before Aug. 1.

State police are seeking court rulings permitting them to destroy the confiscated devices, which have an estimated value of $35,000.

A court battle looms not only because of the value of the confiscated property, but because the decision is expected to have a far-reaching effect on pinball machine operation all over Pennsylvania.

Legion Votes Tomorrow On Park Casino Deal

Members of the Monessen Thomas McKee Post 28, American Legion, tomorrow night will vote on a resolution calling for the purchase of the Park Casino night club in Monessen for $100,000.

A banner turnout of members is expected.

The resolution, which has been given the required three readings and now requires a membership vote before its final passage, was recommended by the Post's building committee composed of William J. Huston, Dr. G. L. Trilli, Dr Lawrence C. Lee, Commander Peter T. Stieska, George Chesmar, Harry McDermott, J. J. Godla, C. R. Murphy, Gilfert Mihalich, Edmund Daumit, Jack Beck and Angelo Giannini.

The membership will also vote on four other resolutions, all relating to the purchase of the night club on Grand Blvd.

One of the resolutions asks that the building committee be authorized to mortgage or sell its present home at Fourth St. and Donner Ave. so that the purchase of the Park Casino "may be accomplished" if the members vote to purchase the night club.

The other resolutions state:

"To mortgage or sell any or all portions of the Park Casino if purchase of same does eventuate."

"To execute all documents necessary in the purchase and financing of said transaction."

"To execute all documents necessary in the sale of its present location."

The committee is urging all members to attend tomorrow's meeting, stating:

"If you have any interest whatsoever in veterans affairs, Legion progress, and better civic development, make it a point to be at this meeting and freely express your views."

No indication has been made how the Legion will operate Park Casino if the purchase is approved.

Warehouses Hit by Strike

Demand 10-cent Increase

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Pickets from two teamster unions cut off operations today at four district furniture store warehouses and the garage of a transit firm holding a contract with a department store.

About 250 members of Local 636, General Warehousemen, went on strike to enforce demands for a 10-cent hourly wage increase from the furniture stores.

Local 249 General Teamsters Union picketed the garage of the Pittsburgh Deliveries, Inc., hauler for Sears Roebuck Co. in a dispute involving 75 drivers and helpers.

(The Monessen order house branch of Sears Roebuck Co. said its deliveries will not be affected because its shipments come from a transfer company not involved in the dispute.)

However, the picketing did not affect operations at the furniture stores. Involved in the dispute are Spear & Co. and May-Stern, of Pittsburgh; Ohringer Home Furniture, McKeesport and Braddock and Reuben Furniture, McKeesport and Homestead.

Demand Rejected

Samuel Spurrier, Local 636 business representative, said the strike had been sanctioned two months ago by both the International Teamsters and Joint Council 40, of Pittsburgh. This authorization enables strikers to file strike benefit claims.

The furniture stores rejected the 10-cent demand and countered with an offer of 7½ cents an hour for men and six cents for women workers plus insurance benefits estimated at two cents an hour.

The warehousemen's contract expired March 15. Federal Mediation Commissioner George Woomer said no further negotiations had been scheduled.

INGRID BOUND — Leaving Los Angeles, Jenny Ann Lindstrom, 18, smiles for photographers on her way to a reunion with her mother, actress Ingrid Bergman. Jenny is going to Stockholm with her father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, and will fly from there to meet her mother in Paris.

Young 'Hoodlums' Held in Beating Of County Man

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — State police have questioned seven "hoodlums," ranging in age from 16 to 19, in connection with the severe beating of a Grapeville man with whom they had an argument in a lunch counter here Sunday.

In Monsour Clinic at Jeannette was Lawrence L. Harrold, 26, who suffered a possible fractured skull and severe bruises of the face and head.

Police said the gang followed Harrold to the home of a relative in Jeannette. When Harrold got out of his automobile to pick up his children, the youngsters set upon him.

Harrold's father-in-law, Robert A. Tobias, and Tobias' daughter, Mildred, 15, went to the victim's assistance and they also were beaten, but less severely.

The attackers were held in Westmoreland County jail here.

"Hoodlums, that's all these kids are, hoodlums," a state trooper said.

'Dodgem Cars' Cause Havoc

MAMI BEACH (UP) — Vandals played a wild and expensive game of "dodgem cars" with caddy carts over the lush greens and fairways of the swank Lagorce Golf Course here, police reported today.

Officers said the vandals apparently broke into a garage where the caddy carts, normally used to transport golfers and their clubs around the course, were kept.

Robert L. Ahern, concessionaire and owner of the carts, said 11 of the vehicles were found strewn around the 6,000-yard course. He said the cars, valued at $1,200 each were wrecked.

Altoona Bishop to Inherit Legacy

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP)—The new bishop of the Altoona Catholic Diocee who is yet to be named by Pope Pius XII, will inherit the personal and corporate possessions of his predecessor.

Bishop Richard T. Guilfoyle, who died June 10, stipulated in his will drawn up in 1938 that his possesions should go to the new prelate. The legacy includes one of the most valuable libraries in the area. The will was probated during the weekend.

Gulf Storm Is Weakening Today

MIAMI (UP)—Weathermen said today an abnormal thunderstorm area in the Gulf of Mexico appeared to be weakening.

A forecaster said the suspicious area was "very far from" developing into a tropical storm.

"But we're still watching it", he said.

The area of abnormal thunderstorm activity was located in the central gulf about 200-00 3 miles southwest of New Orleans and was moving westward.

Coldest Spot

NEW YORK (UP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau reported that the coldest spot in the nation this morning was Kalispell, Mont., which had a reading of 35-degrees.

Segregationist Trial Opens in Tennessee

By WILLIAM TUCKER

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Fiery segregationist John Kasper and 15 reluctant codefendants go on trial in Federal Court today in a case that may provide fuel for the concurrent civil rights showdown in the Senate.

In fact, said the chief defense counsel Robert L. Dobbs of Memphis, "it is my considered opinion that there may be political significance" in the coincidence of dates.

In the first concerted federal action to insure orderly school integration, the 16 were accused of conspiring to violate an injunction not to interfere with racial mixing at nearby Clinton, Tenn., high school last November.

It was the second time up for ex-Yankee Kasper, a roaming man of many causes who is now a white supremacist. He is appealing a year's sentence for an earlier charge of violating U.S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor's same injunction in the Clinton case.

Judge Taylor, son of one Tennessee governor and a nephew of another, is presiding over the mass trial. The defendants are represented by a battery of attorneys, most of them identified with the South's fight to save segregation.

But Kasper, represented by J. Benjamin Simmons of Washington, was as much a case apart from the others as the Dixie lawyers could make him. The other 15, all Tennesseans, had petitioned in vain for separate trials.

The trial, expected to serve as a test for future segregation cases where the government is involved, was preceded Sunday night by a defense counsel request to the press to observe "objectivity."

Dobbs, a 36-year-old Florida native, noted that the trial opening coincided with the Senate schedule to bring up the House civil rights bill for the question of consideration.

Dobbs said that while the trial date here had been set some time ago by Judge Taylor the Senate rules were abrogated so that the civil rights bill could come up on the same date.

The Clinton cases stemmed basically from the integration of a dozen Negroes with hundreds of whites at Clinton High School during the last days of August, 1956. Disorders followed the classroom mixing.

OBITUARIES

ROBERT BUTLER, SR.

Robert Butler Sr., 79, of 637 Cypress Way, Donora, died today, at 3:15 a. m. in the Veterans Hospital, Pittsburgh after a lingering illness.

A former member of the Donora Police Department, he was born May 16, 1878. He was a member of the St. Charles R. C. Church and the first commander of the Donora Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. 'Mad Dog' Killer Loses Fourth Stay

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP) — "Mad dog" killer Leslie Irvin's bid for a fourth stay of execution was turned down today by Federal Judge W. Lynn Parkinson.

The refusal came 16 hours before the accused killer of six persons was due to die in the Indiana State Prison electric chair.

State in Attack On Turnpike Defense Witness

By ANTHONY R. CANNIFF

HARRISBURG (UP) — State attorneys in the Pennsylvania Turnpike trial today opened up a three-pronged attack on the defense's star witness, Manu-Mine Co. Harry L. Luke, project engineer.

Luke, who was returned to the stand by defense counsel Friday after testifying on their behalf for three days two weeks ago, was turned over to Deputy Attorney General Vincent G. Panati for cross-examination early today.

Tempers ran high as Panati attacked Luke's testimony concerning the choice of the route of the turnpike's Northeastern Extension across the anthracite region, his estimates as to the cost of mine filling work on the extension and his work under a second, concurrent contract for a study of mine locations beneath the roadway.

Luke admitted under Panati's questioning that some "slight changes" were made in the proposed route of the roadway as a result of mine conditions which were not discovered until after the work began. He denied, however, that "conditions worsened" as the work progressed, as Panati charged.

"The conditions were the same," Luke insisted. "There were just more of them."

Panati showed the witness a 1953 letter to the commission which stated that of the 19.5 miles across the anthracite region, 12.2 miles had no mining underneath, and another 3.3 miles had only a single vein of coal underneath. This was the route accepted by the commission, which had hired Manu-Mine to choose the best route.

Atom to Turn First Shovel at Groundbreaking

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The atom, instead of the customary civic dignatary, will turn the first shovel today at ground breaking ceremonies for Westinghouse Electric Corporation's nuclear testing reactor.

The ceremony will be conducted by remote control. Energy will be released by a stream of neutrons from Westinghouse's atom smasher at nearby Forest Hills and be relayed 20 miles away to the new installation at Waltz Mill, Westmoreland County.

Dr. William E. Shoupp, technical director of Westinghouse's atomic power department, said the sound of neutrons being fired in the atom smasher will be picked up by a Geiger counter. The energy will be transmitted over a special telephone line to a magnet holding the shovel. When the Geiger counter clicks break the circuit to the magnet, the shovel will drop.

Hosier Mendicino Glunt

MONESSEN HIGH GRADUATE HONORED — Dr. Lorenzo Mendicino, director of the Charleroi School District's psychological testing program and a Monessen High School graduate, has been awarded a Corning Glass Works Foundation scholarship award, it was announced today by H. Marvin Hosier, manager of the CGW Charleroi plant. Also taking part in the award ceremonies was D. L. Glunt, superintendent of Charleroi public schools. Dr. Mendicino has enrolled in the summer school sessions at Pittsburgh University for for advanced work in the field of psychometrics-psychological testing and measurements in secondary education.

Elizabethan Era Is Expected in Fashions

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) —Look for an Elizabethan era in American fashions for fall.

The visit of Britain's young monarch and her husband to the United States is three months away. But Seventh Avenue manufacturers already are busily cutting clothes with "regal simplicity," from fabrics rich enough for royalty, and in colors appropriately named "Windsor Rose," "Elizabethan Blue" and "Royal Purple."

"The Queen's visit will have a strong influence on the way Miss and Mrs. Average American will want to look," said Roxane, who with Cecil Beaton designed the Samuel Winston fall and winter collection.

Designer Collections Shown

The Winston group was one of the designer collections previewed Monday for 200 visiting fashion reporters here for shows by the Couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

Roxane's "fit for a queen" fabrics include silk satins in jewel tones, a $60 per yard lame, ottoman silk brocades and wools with velvet-like texture.

Monte Sano and Pruzan, pace setters in coat and suit styles, came up with the "great circle" coat—cut full enough to envelop just about any costume in a woman's wardrobe. They also showed the three-quarter length and seven-eighths length coat, the latter done in large-pattern plaid tweed, in circular, barrel, straight and bias cut.

Suits belted at the natural waistline highlighted the Harry Frechtel collection. Frechtel is one of several manufacturers providing plenty of walking room in narrow suit and dress skirts, with deep box pleats, or slits.

Nettie Rosenstein featured all sorts of jackets in her suits — some of them hipbone length, others waist, some single - breasted, others double, some belted, others unbelted.

One of the most striking dresses in her collection: A vamp - type gown of clinging crepe, with the decolletage slashed to the waist at back. It is named "Inky."

Jane Derby's evening clothes feature skirts cut with extravagant fullness; but bodices so sparse they just barely are modest.

Iran's Earthquake Toll Up to 2,000

TEHRAN, Iran (UP) — The death toll in Iran's disastrous earthquake soared to 2,000 today. There were fears that disease spreading from hundreds of corpses might send it still higher.

Oficials said the threat of disease from the hundreds of the bodies left unburied was increasing daily. Lack of help to bury the bodies of those killed in the quakes which rocked the southern shores of the Caspian Sea last week was hampering burial, they said.

Five Day Forecast

Western Pennsylvania: Temperature will average near normal in the south and about two degrees below normal in the north. Cooler Tuesday or Wednesday. Warmer about Friday. Scattered showers Tuesday through Saturday will total one-quarter to one-third inch.

Waynesburg Street Is River of Fire

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UP)—A Waynesburg street was turned into a river of fire today when a mixture of 800 gallons of oil, tar and asphalt spilled from a tank truck and ignited.

The flames shot as high as telephone poles, terrifying women residents along Race Run. Waynesburg volunteer firemen brought the flames under control.

Lloyd Ernest, 25, and Charles Cunningham, 20, both of New Freeport, leaped from the truck and escaped injury. Damage to the truck was estimated at $6,500.

Ike's Son Is Neighbor

WASHINGTON (UP) — Maj. John Eisenhower, the President's son, has bought the guest cottage and a plot of land at his father's Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was reluctant to discuss the transaction, saying it was "a family matter." But he said reports that the property had changed hands were "substantially correct."

Major Eisenhower and his family are vacationing in Florida. The Army at Ft. Belvoir, Va., where they presently live, said he left no forwarding address.

The Gettysburg guest cottage, a small white frame building, is located on a corner of the Eisenhower farm. It was remodeled from an old - fashioned school house several years ago.

A children's playhouse, painted pink with candy-stripe pillars and blue shutters, recently was built next to the guest house.

It obviously was built for the four Eisenhower children—David, the President's only grandson, and his three younger sisters.

Handyman Admits to Slaying; Wanted Skull

VINELAND, N.J. (UP)—A Puerto Rican farm handyman has admitted he killed a teen-aged boy last October to get the top of his skull to make a love potion, Police Capt. John Barsuglia announced today.

Barsuglia said the dramatic admission of the "black magic" slaying was made by Juan Rivera Aponte, 45, handyman on the farm of Idek and Celina Rosenblum, Polish displaced persons who gave him a job two years ago.

The police captain said Aponte admitted the strangulation of 13-year-old Roger Carletto, who disappeared last Oct. 13 and whose body was recovered from a chicken house on the Rosenblum farm last Tuesday.

The boy was killed and buried in the chicken house where Aponte lived after the handyman had read a book on black magic, and thought he needed a dried human skull to complete a potion to enable him to cast a spell over women, Barsuglia said.

The police said the top of the boy's skull was found in a stove in Aponte's quarters in the chicken house.

Barsuglia, outlining Aponte's alleged confession, said the handyman told him the Carletto boy walked into the chicken house and asked for a cigaret just after the farm hand had finished reading a chapter in the magic book calling for the skull as a potion ingredient.

He said Aponte admitted he slugged the boy with his fists from behind, and then strangled him with a cord.

Aponte buried the boy in the house, and proceeded to water his grave three times daily, according to Barsuglia.

He opened the grave seven months after the slaying, cut off the top of the youngster's head, and placed it in the dismantled stove to dry, the police captain said.

The boy's body was uncovered by police last Tuesday after Aponte told police that Rosenblum was the slayer.

He said he had seen the farm owner kill the boy, and had helped bury him. The handyman said Rosenblum threatened to kill him if he told of the slaying, according to his story.

Rosenblum was arrested and subsequently charged with homicide, despite his denials.

Barsuglia said a knife was found in the grave. At first it was believed to be the death weapon, but it was established during Aponte's recital of the crime that it was the implement used to cut away the boy's skull.

The police captain said Aponte began to hedge during questioning late Sunday and finally admitted the slaying today.

Highway Death Toll in State Among the Leaders

Sunday Traffic Reported Light; 29 Are Killed

By UNITED PRESS

The appalling death rate on Pennsylvania highways in the first 30 hours of the long Fourth of July weekend apparently served as a grim reminder to motorists to "slow down and live" in the waning hours of the holiday period.

State police said the homeward-bound traffic before the weekend closed Sunday midnight was below expectations. A trooper patrolling the Pennsylvania Turnpike said "it was a normal Sunday for traffic."

Three multiple collisions Thursday which claimed a total of nine lives gave Pennsylvania an unwanted distinction of being among the early leaders in the nation's highway death toll.

29 Lose Lives

A United Press survey showed at least 29 persons were killed in roadway accidents throughout the state in the 102-hour holiday weekend which began 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The worst multiple accident occurred on the Pennsylvania Turnpike when four vacationing Detroit residents, including a six-year-old girl, were killed. Police said the accident was caused when a woman driver fell asleep at the wheel.

Two New Jersey women and an 18-months-old boy were killed in a two-car accident near Lehighton Thursday. And on the same day two teen-aged girls were killed in a head-on collision in Beaver County.

The latest fatalities included:

Pittsburgh: Jonathan Rice, 15, Upper St. Clair Twp., was killed Sunday when he stepped from an automobile on a bridge in Pittsburgh and was hit by a truck.

Lancaster: Rafael Roman, 21, and Hector C. Devivies, 22, both of New York were killed Sunday when their auto went out of control and plunged into a stream near Lancaster.

Philadelphia: Samuel Schwartz, 67, was killed in Germantown on Sunday, when he was rundown by a hit-run motorist. Police said J. Robert Hudson, Plymouth Meeting Pa., later surrendered and confessed he was the driver.

Springboro: Rada Stolich, 74, Springboro, was killed early Sunday when he was hit by a car as he walked along Route 19 near his Crawford County home.

Indiana: William Martinak, 22, Waterman, was injured fatally early Sunday when the car in which he was riding smashed into a tree near here. George H. Whitehall, 23, Blairsville, driver of the machine, suffered a broken leg.

Easton: Mrs. Ione Bobb, 42, of Halethorpe, Md., was killed in an automobile collision here Saturday night as she was returning home from a holiday trip.

California: Mary Ann Gialamas, 2, Stockdale, was killed Saturday when she wandered away from her mother, Mary, and was hit by an automobile.

Pittsburgh: Patricia Kleppick, 16 Pittsburgh, was injured fatally on Saturday night when she was hit by an automobile and knocked into the path of a passing taxicab.

York: H. Marvin Findley, Delta, was killed Saturday when his car collided with a vehicle carrying five Maryland teenagers near Red Lion.

He served as retreat master at St. Francis House for many of the special events. He has been national director of the Arch confraternity since 194.

Youngster Killed In Mt. Pleasant

MT. PLEASANT, Pa. (UP)—Janet Louise Monholland drowned Saturday on the eve of her third birthday when she slipped away from her mother, who was busy baking a birthday cake, and fell into a well at her Mt. Pleasant RD 2 home.

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen D. Yoney said the well was protected by a six-foot fence, but the child apparently either climbed it or slipped through.

SLEEPY TIME ON 'AFRICAN' PLAINS — Two African lions are taking life easy on the African Plains of the Bronx, N. Y., Zoo. They have an island all to themselves. One is getting off a prodigous yawn. The other one is asleep. The lions lead a lazy life. They don't have to hunt their food. It is brought to them every afternoon. A moat surrounds their island and one of the lions had fallen into it several times.

Tax Exemption for Authority

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today signed legislation excusing the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority from payment of $900,000 in back sales taxes resulting from a contract error.

The measure opened a 15-day loophole to allow the authority to take advantage of an exemption because the contract was entered several months before the 3 per cent sales tax was enacted last year.

The authority would not have been liable for the tax levy had not the construction contract contained an "esculator scale" clause instructing contractors it would pay additional money if a sales tax were enacted. Legally, the scale made the authority ineligible for an exemption granted similar contracts signed prior to the March 17, 1956 sales tax law.

Allegheny County lawmakers contended the tax law was never intended to apply to the sanitary authority and that it was liable only through a human error.

The taxes were never paid, pending the governor's action on the legislation.

Calvin Coolidge's Widow Dies in Massachusetts at the Age of 78

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UP)—Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, 78, a school teacher who married a country lawyer and became first lady of the United States, died today.

She died at 12:50 a.m. e.d.t. at her home here.

Mrs. Coolidge died in her sleep. With her was her son, John. Dr. James H. Averill said death was due to a heart condition but added that an autopsy would be performed.

Mrs. Coolidge's regular physician, Dr. Hugh Tallock, had been treating her for many years, but is presently on vacation.

Funeral services were scheduled tentatively for Wednesday at the Edwards Congregational Church here.

Mrs. Coolidge, one of four surviving former first ladies, was discharged in March from Cooley Dickinson Hospital.

She entered the hospital Feb. 25 for "medical treatment" and five days later suffered a cardiac and kidney failure.

Her death reduced to three the number of living wives of former presidents. The others are Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Harry S. Truman.

Keen Sports Fan

Mrs. Coolidge, gracious and charming, was born Jan. 3, 1879 in Burlington, Vt., of Puritan stock. She graduated from the University of Vermont and came here as an instructor at an institution for the deaf and dumb.

While here, she met Calvin Coolidge, then a struggling lawyer. They were married in 1905. He died in 1933 at the age of 60.

A keen sports fan, Mrs. Coolidge especially loved baseball and was a staunch rooter for the Boston Red Sox. Until recent years, she was a familiar figure at Red Sox games at Fenway Park in Boston.

Just "Mrs. Cal"

Mrs. Coolidge, gentle and retiring, entered the White House without social whirl or glamour. And as first lady, she retained the role of a simple New England housewife devoted to home, family and civic responsibility. She regarded herself simply as "Cal Coolidge's wife."

After the death of her husband, Mrs. Coolidge seemed to grow with the years. During World War II, she devoted most of her time to civic and social work, the Red Cross and church activities.

Her travels in later years were confined mostly to visits to the old Coolidge homestead at Plymouth, Vt., where her husband took the oath of office as president by the light of a kerosene lamp.

Trolley Union Opens Contract Talks Tomorrow

PITTSBURGH (UP) — An AFL union representing 2,200 Pittsburgh Railways trolley and bus operators open contract talks with the transit firm Tuesday in efforts to win a pay increase.

Division 85 Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coaches Employes, had submitted demands for a 36-cent hourly wage increase in a two-year contract. Operators now earn $2.14 an hour plus four cents an hour cost of living allowances.

The transit line serves the Pittsburgh and Allegheny County area with a population of a 1,500,000 and carries an estimated 425,000 passengers daily.

The union's contract with the company expires Aug. 31. Company president C. D. Palmer has made a counter proposal for nine contract changes.

Ma, Daughter Wed

SALEM, Ill. (UP)—Martha Jane Walker, now Mrs. William Haley, and Clara Mayfield, now Mrs. Walter Lowry, are on a double honeymoon today. Mrs. Lowry, 61, is Mrs. Haley's daughter. Mrs. Haley is 82. Mother and daughter were married in a double ceremony.

City Plans Should Be Visionary

THE CONGESTION which is apparent in Monessen's City Park on most holidays and weekends can serve as a good object lesson to those who are planning the future physical development of the community.

When the land for City Park was first donated to the City 30-odd years ago, it was not uncommon to hear it remarked that the area was probably much too big. It was also said that it was "too far out of town" to be practical — people just wouldn't go so far to use a public park.

How foolish those criticisms sound today! City Park is not nearly as large as it should be, and it is now almost wholly surrounded by residential developments which are filling in rapidly. So instead of being too visionary, the planners of 30 years ago were, if anything, not visionary enough.

That should be a lesson to us as we talk about the next 30 years as we are now doing in connection with the preparation of a new master plan by the City Planning Commission.

Some of the ideas to be put forward undoubtedly are going to look mighty impractical for the present. They will seem to be dreams rather than realistic suggestions.

But a community master plan which isn't full of such "dreams" isn't going to be worth much as a chart of future development. A civic idea which is good only for today and tomorrow isn't good enough; it must be good for next year and the next decade, too.

We hope Monessen's present leaders will be able to think in bold terms as they plan the city's future. We hope they will resist some of the pleas, which are already heard, that they be "practical" and stick to ideas which are capable of immediate realization. For if they take the short-sighted view, they can make many decisions which, 25 or 30 years hence, will look more like blunders than improvements.

A Neighborly Job

THOSE who have been reading Roscoe Drummond's dispatches from the scenes of the recent hurricane in Louisiana can be glad for the contributions which they made last spring to the American Red Cross. For the Red Cross, the agency which the American people maintain for just such emergencies, is on the job rendering the skillful, merciful service which its long experience has taught it to render so well.

The Red Cross, for reasons which nobody seems to be able to put a finger on, has had increasing difficulty raising its annual budgets. In this area as in many others, the Red Cross appeals encounter a strange kind of resistance. It never comes into the open where it can be dealt with on a factual basis; it seems to lurk in the shadows and to be expressed only in whispers. But the result is an almost unbroken series of missed quotas.

Those folks who have refused to contribute to the Red Cross or who have not contributed what they should, ought to be more than a little embarrassed as they read the news from the hurricane area. Families by the thousands who have been gravely stricken and need immediate help are being helped — but only by those who did their part a few weeks ago when the annual solicitation was made for the Red Cross.

As it is, Hurricane Audrey promises to strain the resources of the Red Cross seriously. It may not have enough to do all that should be done — thanks in good part to the whisperers and their false rumors.

We need constantly to be reminded that, when disaster strikes, there must be some agency equipped and ready to provide instant help, the kind of help one neighbor provides another when trouble comes.

In America this agency is the Red Cross. And it is a serious duty of citizenship to see that it is adequately financed. When it isn't, we aren't doing our job as neighbor to neighbor.

Ideal Betrayed

THE PROSPECTS do not seem to be very good that Congress will pass a school construction bill at this session. Once more, this legislation, which has the support of the Eisenhower administration and was promised in the platforms of both the Republican and Democratic parties, is mired in sectional politics and racial prejudice.

There is even some question as to whether the bill can be dislodged from the House Rules Committee where it is now bottled. But even if it should come to the House floor, it is likely that it would be amended to include some reference to racial segregation in the public schools of the South. Such an amendment was enough to defeat similar legislation in the previous Congress.

We cannot be very proud of our system of representation when it performs in this fashion. The relationship between freedom and adequate public education is so well accepted and so basic to the American ideal that our Congress literally betrays this ideal when it does not act to make a modern school available to every American child.

Merry-Go-Round—

Rep. Powell Ducks Vote On Big Dam

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — One of the hottest backstage battles in this session of Congress recently revolved around Hells Canyon and one Negro Congressman, Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem.

The struggle on one side was to build a high federal dam at the biggest dam site still remaining in North America. A bill to this end has already passed the Senate.

Mr. Pearson

The struggle on the other side was to keep the House of Representative from passing the bill and thereby putting it on Eisenhower's desk for signature or veto. If he vetoed, political reaction would be highly critical in the northwest.

The vote of Congressman Powell was crucial. He was the key member of the Public Works subcommittee. A Tammany Democrat, Powell came out for Eisenhower last year as two of his secretaries were jailed for paying kickbacks and one secretary was indicted. Powell himself has not been prosecuted.

This writer, who helped jail three congressmen for taking kickbacks, can testify that it's highly unusual to convict a congressman's secretaries and not prosecute the congressman.

So the fear of penitentiary gates may have influenced Mr. Powell's action. Also influencing him may have been a possible deal on civil rights.

Junket to Europe

At any rate, Congressman Powell was reported under heavy White House pressure to stay out of Washington, and it became apparent some days ago that he intended to do so. For he wrote two letters to Rep. Clair Engle of California, chairman of the Interior Committee, asking him (1) to return all proxies (which other congressmen could have used to vote for Hells Canyon) and (2) to help him get free airplane travel to Germany where, he said, he wanted to study defense installations. He also asked Engle to keep him in mind for any free trips to Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands later.

Engle wrote back that he could not find any old Powell proxies and that the Interior Committee was not authorized to travel in Europe. He said he would "keep him in mind" for Caribbean junkets.

By this time, Powell had gone to New York. So Congresswoman Edith Green, Oregon Democrat, suspecting Powell was going to duck out on the Hells Canyon vote, tried to call him. He would not answer the phone. For two days, June 29 and 30, she tried to call him — without success.

It happens that Powell is heavily indebted to Mrs. Green. Last January when Chairman Graham Barden of North Carolina moved to bar Powell as chairman of a Labor and Education subcommittee, Mrs. Green claimed Powell had seniority, argued that he should be chairman. Despite this, she couldn't get him on the phone.

After three days of fruitless phoning, the Congresswoman from Oregon took a plane to New York, went to Powell's office. He was still elusive. Finally she got Carmine De Sapio, head of Tammany, to ask Powell to talk with her. De Sapio failed. Then she contacted Mayor Wagner of New York. He too failed.

Finally, another Negro Congressman, Charley Diggs of Detroit, called Powell. This time Powell condescended to talk.

"Will you come back to Washington and vote on Hells Canyon?" Diggs asked. "If not, will you talk to Mrs. Green?"

Powell's answer was "no."

Meanwhile, Philip Randolph, head of the Sleeping Car Porters, was asked to move Powell; also Clarence Mitchell of the NAACP. Mitchell went to Powell's office and reported that Powell would vote for Hells Canyon if Sen. Wayne Morse, would make certain promises regarding the civil rights bill.

"You tell Powell," replied Morse, "that the Southerners couldn't make deals with me and he can't either. Hells Canyon involves the heritage of millions of boys and girls, both white and black, and he'd better not deny them their heritage."

Powell did not come back to vote. The bill remains bottled up in committee. If it reached the full House of Representatives it would pass. But in the committee system of Congress, the majority does not always rule.

The Grandchildren's Future

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Marshal Tito, it turned out, has more than enough to do without being drawn into the discussion, which was started by Khrushchev, about socialism and American grandchildren. This may have been mere discretion, but I rather suspect that Tito has learned from his own varied experience that long-range predictions about the future of a social system are almost certain to express little more than the prophet's hopes or fears. Although Marxists like to think that they possess the secrets of history, no Marxist foresaw, or could have foreseen, what now goes by the name of socialism in Yugoslavia.

Mr. Lippmann

The only thing we know for certain is that in the 20th century, there is a rapid and unpredictable evolution in every society, except perhaps in the most primitive and isolated. Khrushchev does not know, he cannot know, what will develop in Russia. In 10 years, much less in America in 30 years.

The Communist world from China to Yugoslavia and Poland including Russia itself, is not proceeding according to some grand plan, revealed by Marx and Lenin, which leads to a common end; the various Communist regimes are feeling their way, seeking remedies and solutions for their tactical difficulties, and they are rationalizing the absence of a grand and universal principle by saying that there are many roads to socialism. As they take these many and differing roads, they will become many and differing societies.

Change Certain

If no one knows what socialism will be like in two generations, neither does anyone know what the American economy will be like. It will, of course, not be like the Russian or the Chinese today. We can be sure of that because the controlling principle in both Russia and in China is the rapid and forced development of an economically and technologically backward country. The American economy, as Communist thinkers themselves often say, has long since reached a stage of development which Russia is still struggling to reach, which China has hardly begun to approach.

So we can be sure that while our grandchildren will experience great changes in the American economy, these changes will not be a reaction to and a recapitulation of the Russian and Chinese experience. Communism may represent a future to a primitive country like China. But for America, Communism is irrelevant, having nothing to do with our highly advanced and complex economy.

The American social order has changed greatly in this century, so greatly that terms like capitalism and free enterprise and competition, which come down to us from 19th Century, no longer describe our economy intelligibly.

There have been the wars, and the rise of the United States as a world power with a great military establishment. There has been the fabulous, indeed explosive, increase of the American population. There has been not only the deep and wide technological development, but, with the organization of scientific research, a radically new pace in the application of science.

A New Principle

There has been also, so at least it seems to me, a non-violent but nevertheless revolutionary change in the inner principle of our own social economy. This is the new principle, which goes by the prosaic name of "full employment" — the imperative that the government must use the fiscal and other powers of the state to keep the demand for labor at least equal to the supply.

Until the present generation this principle was unknown to, much less was it the policy of, the United States or any other capitalist nation. Its adoption marks a profound change. It would not in my view be an exaggeration to say that it has brought about a revolution in the West which has made the Communist revolutionary propaganda irrelevant and antiquated.

For when the government is committed to the maintenance of full employment, the bargaining power of labor is underwritten. This means a decisive change in the balance of forces within our society.

National Policy

The new principle of full employment was formulated during the great depression between the two world wars. Its technique is based on the discovery during the first World War that a government can promote production, regardless of the gold supply, by managing credit and the currency. The impulse to apply the technique of war finance to the peace-time economy came from the huge unemployment and the vast misery of the great depression. The commitment to the new policy comes from the voters who, having learned that unemployment can be prevented, will not tolerate any government which does not prevent it.

Although the principle of full employment was worked out under Roosevelt and Truman, it is now national policy from which no public man, who expects to have a future, would think of dissenting.

We have not begun to see the full consequences of the new principle. But in all probability, it is the real reason why it appears that the inflation in which we find ourselves cannot be stopped by the orthodox devices of tight money and a balanced budget. It may well be that a gradual inflation is the inseparable accompaniment of the policy of full employment, and that the two together will gradually but inexorably work a great transformation in the American way of life.

After 'Audrey'—

Red Cross Acting for American People in Wake of Hurricane

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

LAKE CHARLES, La. — I was present when a young Cameron school teacher who, with his wife and three children had lost everything but their lives to the harrowing havoc of Hurricane Audrey, broke down and cried.

It was a pleasant experience.

They were brave tears, they were tears of gratitude. He just couldn't hold them back. It wasn't necessary. Everyone understood.

Mr. Drummond

He had come timidly and tentatively to the ramshackle headquarters of the Red Cross in the center of this quiet, placid city of the deep South where so much is being done to shield the victims of nearby disaster.

Neither he nor his family had ever faced such an emergency. They had never asked anything from a social agency. They weren't accustomed to asking; it was always the other way around. But the family was without food, without clothing except what they wore, without home, without resources.

He was told by a friend that it would be all right for him to call at the Red Cross.

Help Is Ready

It was. "How much do you usually spend each week for food?" the Red Cross interviewer asked.

"I really don't know," he replied hesitantly. "My wife does that."

"Could you ask her?"

"I just can't disturb her," he explained. "She is in a state of shock. I should think it would be about $25 a week."

The Red Cross specialist knew that was about right and she wrote out a $50 order on a Lake Charles food store.

"Now, what about clothes," she went on.

"Oh, I don't need anything. We'll get along," he protested.

But the Red Cross knew better. It knew that it would be at least two weeks before he would likely be able to take his family back even to a tent dwelling at the scene of the devastated community of Cameron. He would need change of clothing for himself and his wife and his children. So the Red Cross put into his hand a $100 order for clothes to be bought in a Lake Charles department store.

For the moment this was more immediate, untrammeled generosity and this was why he could give vent to his gratitude only in tears.

As the Red Cross interviewer expressed it to me a few minutes later "He just couldn't realize how basically good and kind people are."

And this is true, for it is not the Red Cross per se which is humane and generous in such a time of extremity; it is acting as the trustee of the nation's humanity and generosity as it is given the resources to do.

The greater need is still to come.

The greater need is to help the whole community of Cameron, its homes almost wholly laid waste, to normal living and to replace its tools of livelihood.

This is the monumental task in which the Red Cross will be engaged for at least the next three months; not merely out of its own good heart but in behalf of the whole American people.

It will seek to do this largely by helping individuals purchase whatever they need at the local level, from household supplies to business supplies. The reason why this is more beneficial than attempting to collect and distribute gifts in kind is that it restores the economy of the community while it restores to its people the means of livelihood.

Independent People

This almost totally stricken community of Cameron is not holding out its hands grasping for charity. It is an independent people largely self-employed, closely knit and tending to turn in upon itself. It is mostly French-Canadian and many speak only the language of their ancestry. There is scarcely a single family which did not lose a relative in the wake of the hurricane and flood.

They come shyly, certainly reluctantly to the Red Cross — and leave a little astounded and gratefully aware for the first time how "basically good and kind people are." It just never occurred to them that they would be helped so well to surmount such disaster.

To the Red Cross, while disaster is never routine, it is not unusual. Since 1950 alone the Red Cross has gone into action to cope with human consequences of 59 disasters when nature has run amock. For such relief and restoration it has expended $82,840,000 in seven years.

Hurrican Audrey is straining its budget to the breaking point. For those who see this tragedy at first hand it is impossible to believe it will strain the humane instincts of the American people.

Behind The News—

Is Russia Headed for One-man Dictatorship?

By CHARLES M. McCANN

One big question in the Kremlin shake-up is whether Soviet Russia is heading again toward a one-man dictatorship.

It may be several weeks before the full significance of the shake-up becomes apparent.

For the moment, it is clear that Communist chieftain Nikita S. Khrushchev has emerged the victor in a long and serious dispute on policy with Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov and Lazar M. Kaganovich.

But there is reason to doubt that Khrushchev either aspires to be dictator or could be if he wanted to.

Molotov, Malenkov and Kaganovich are accused of opposing Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin in pretty nearly everything that came up in the Kremlin.

Includes Reforms

This included agricultural and industrial reforms and reorganizations and a somewhat more liberal governmental set-up.

It included relations with leaders of other Communist countries, notably President Tito of Yugoslavia who led the movement toward independent Communism.

Khrushchev and Bulganin realized that the day when Russia could exert complete domination of the affairs of other Communist countries had ended.

In foreign policy, the Khrushchev - Bulganin program of "peaceful co-existence" with Western countries and the development of personal contacts with the leaders of those countries was involved.

It is indicated strongly that domestic policy and relations with leaders of other Communist countries overshadowed foreign relations in importance.

Left Him Home

Actually, Khrushchev and Bulganin had pursued their policy of "co - existence" despite Molotov. When he opposed the personal contact technique, Khrushchev and Bulganin simply left him home while they made personal-contact visits abroad. A year ago, they threw him out of his post of foreign minister.

But Molotov, who once had been regarded as Josef Stalin's heir, Malenkov, who succeeded Stalin as premier only to be deposed, and Kaganovich kept on fighting.

How serious the situation became is shown by the fact that in the big shake-up five of the eleven members of the Communist Presidium — the men who really rule Russia—were ousted.

Naturally, the shake-up has strengthened Khrushchev as the No. 1 man in Russia's collective leadership.

Whether, as some suggest, Khrushchev is on the way to becoming a Stalin-type dictator remains to be seen. If he is, nearly all experts on Russia will have been proved wrong. They have insisted that Russia really has a collective leadership. They say that nobody including Khrushchev, wants a return to one - man rule. That sounds reasonable.

The marriage of Arlene Joyce Krizner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Krizner, Jr., of West Newton, and Chris Tomich, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Tomich, of Wyano, took place in the First Church of God, West Newton.

The ceremony was ready by the Rev. Harry G. Cadamore at 7:30 p. m., June 21, before an altar decked with ferns and flowers.

Arthur Yex, Jr., cousin of the bride, was vocalist and the organist was Esther Knight.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white embroidered nylon tulle over skinner satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice with a scoop neckline and short shirred sleeves. Her bouffant skirt was of ruffled nylon tiers. She wore matching mitts and a chapel length veil of French silk illusion caught to a matching cloche. She carried a Prayer Book topped with orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Arthur Yex, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was of pink embroidered net styled with a strapless bodice and matching stole. Her circular veil fell from a headpiece, which matched the gown, and she carried a colonial bouquet.

Bridesmaid Wears Blue

Bridesmaid was Betty Uchrinscko, who wore a floor length gown of blue lace and net over taffeta made with a fitted strapless bodice and bouffant skirt. She wore a similar headpiece to that worn by the honor attendant and carried a colonial bouquet.

Frank Krizner III, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers were Robert MacDonald, cousin of the bride, Benny Lash and Barry McCoy.

The mother of the bride wore blue lace and chiffon and the mother of the bridegroom wore pink lace and chiffon. Both wore white accessories and yellow rosebud corsages.

There was a reception in the church social rooms and then the couple left for Maryland.

The bride was graduated from West Newton High School and is employed at Clairton Division of the Westinghouse Atomic Plant. Her husband was graduated from South Huntingdon High School and is employed by Reliance Steel, McKeesport.

'Speaking of Beauty'

"I Used to Be Much Prettier"

By James V. Bonafed

Ever find yourself saying "I used to be much prettier. I simply don't have time to take care of my looks now!" Young mothers with children say it. So do their mothers with busy schedules and new grandchildren! Career girls say it too . . . even though they too have a personal obligation to be very well groomed!

-o-

Beauty is essentially good grooming. And good grooming is just a matter of good beauty habits. Put yourself on a beauty schedule. Once a day or once a week. There are some things you just can't do yourself and that's why we're here to help you!

-o-

Hair responds more quickly to regular care than any other feature you have! Keep an appointment at our salon once a week. We'll keep your tresses neatly trimmed, your coiffure smart and flattering. We'll see that you get the perfect permanent wave just right for your hair. When your hair needs special care or reconditioning we'll tell you at once. You'll feel so much lovelier, knowing you are well cared for!

-o-

Your skin will bloom with a nightly five minute treat! We'll be glad to recommend the right cream for your skin. A deep cleanser. A rich cream to "feed" your skin. Spread thin and gently . . . we'll show you how. If your eyes have crinkles, wrinkles or circles . . . we'll help you select the proper cream and concealing make-up. Beauty care takes minutes but the results can bring you timeless beauty.

-o-

Your hands are forever on show. It is easy to keep idle hands attractive. But busy hands belong to busy women. And how they look to other people makes a lot of difference in the way you feel about yourself. Keep a bottle of hand lotion in your desk drawer as well as near the kitchen sink. Use it consistently not just once in a while! Here again discuss your hand problems with us.

Ozarks Have Fallen on Lean Days

The Monessen Ozarks, traditionally one of the better-drawing teams in the Mon Valley League, have apparently fallen on lean days. Attendance at Ninth Street Park this season for home games has been exceptionally small. Last Friday there were only a handful of fans despite pleasant weather. The Ozarks didn't even bother to take up a collection . . . Speaking of the Ozarks, they had six teen-aged players in the lineup against New Eagle recently: Joe and Dom Duche, Carl Crawley, Paul Jezerio, Joe Arrigo and Mike Kunsa. Moreover both Mike Young and Don Danko are just 21, thus giving the Ozarks one of the youngest aggregations in the league.

In charge is George Milby, the former Ellsworth High standout who also happens to be the Connellsville High basketball coach! . . . Pittsburgh Steeler football broadcasts and telecasts will be sponsored by a cigaret maker and brewing company this season. The former sponsor, Atlantic Refining Co., has bowed out of the picture . . . Stan Musial will take part in his 14th All-Star game tomorrow. That's a record . . . Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, the All-American footballer, is expected to turn down a movie contract from 20th Century Fox because the studio wants him to give up pro football.

New Greensburg Coach Turns Out AA

Jame Sibley, new basketball coach at Greensburg High, already has one All-American to his credit. He coached Bob Pellegrini in both football and basketball at Shannock High. Pellegrini went on to win All-American fame at the University of Maryland . . . Sibley, by the way, is strictly a man-for-man defensive advocate His Shannock Valley team this past season had a string of 32 straight victories to its credit before losing to Fountain Hill in the Class B state finals. With three regulars returning, he hopes for the best at Greensburg next season. On December 3, his Lions will open their home season against Monessen High.

In one respect, the Pirate pitching staff has turned in a fine job. The Buc hurlers have been mighty stingy with walks. Luis Arroyo has walked only 23 in his first 97 innings; Roy Face 11 in 52, Bob Friend 26 in 128; Ron Kline 25 in 95; Vernon Law 15 in 79; and Bob Purkey 17 in 93 . . . McKeesport Daily News Sports Editor Merrill Granger picked the Pirates to win the pennant this year. He's being swamped with wisecracks. "But not one person came up and complimented me on a good job of prognostication last year when I picked the Dodgers and Yankees to win their respective races," points out Granger.

Mallino Says Knee 'Pretty Good'

John Mallino, former Monessen High lineman, was hustling pop corn for the Lions at the fireworks show last week. John reports that his knee feels "pretty good" after recent surgery. He's tinkering with the possibility of seeking a spot on the Penn State football team although he'll be ineligible this year following his transfer from North Carolina . . . A football scout for a southern university claims this column has been unfair to schools below Mason-Dixon line. "More often than not, boys give false reasons for leaving school," argues the scout who wishes to remain unidentified. "Rarely, if ever, does a southern university kick out a lad because he wasn't able to make the varsity.

Today's Sports Parade—

'Old-timer' Unworried Over New Boxing Probe

NEW YORK (UP)—Wiry, wispy Abe Attell, at 74 still as fit as any featherweight around, looks at the current boxing investigations with satirical speculation.

Abe figures that the truth will out. He's a great believer in justice, this little man, because he was able to prove his own innocence 45 years ago.

That's when Abe was investigated—to provoke one of the most humorous incidents of his long career.

It seems that, in 1912, Abe was scheduled to box one Knockout Brown. This was a gladiator who, Abe admits, "shouldn't have hit me in the rumble seat with a violin." But just before the bout Abe broke his thumb. Rather than call off the fight, he had it shot full of novocaine.

"The doctor gave me an overdose and when I got in the ring I couldn't hardly see," he recalls with a grin. "This guy I should have taken left - handed makes a bum out of me."

Grown Up Caviar

The boxing commission thought it detected the odor of grown up caviar and invited Abe to a full-blown inquiry. Abe told his story and the commissioners, believing he had taken a swan dive into the tank, listened sneeringly. Finally dismissing him, they summoned Brown to the stand. The testimony went like this:

"Did you see Mr. Atell before going to the club?"

"No, sir."

"When Mr. Atell entered the ring, did he speak to you?"

"Yes, sir."

There was an uproar in the room. The commissioners, it was evident, thought they had sure evidence of collusion. Almost gleefully they pounced on Brown

"And what," demanded one in the voice of doom, "did he say to you?"

The room was tense and expectant. Everyone leaned forward, anticipation on their faces. Brown looked around fearfully, gulped noisily and then gave his answer.

"Well, Mr. Attell came right over to me and he said—'Hello, you silly-lookin' bum!'"

Hearing Broke Up

That broke up the hearing.

It's one of Abe's most cherished memories, standing right next to the night when he was 13-years-old and his mother discovered he was to have his first amateur fight. Mrs. Attell was dead set against fighting, told him never to darken the family portals again if he boxed and finally relented on his promise that to preserve his "manly" reputation he would have only the one bout.

Abe won without a glove being laid on him and the promoter gave him 15 silver dollars, which was heaps of coin in the year 1897. Abe rushed home, happily laying them in his mother's lap. She looked at the money, scanned his unmarked features and then said:

"Well, Abe, when are you going to fight again?"

Which started Abe on a career of 365 fights in which he lost only nine and held the featherweight title for a span of 10 years and 4 months.

"And not a one was tainted," he grins. "Ask Knockout Brown."

Pirate Homers Beat Giants Twice

All-Star Hurlers Are Named

Bunning, or Loes; Curt Or Antonelli

By STAN MOCKLER

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Jim Bunning of Detroit or Billy Loes of Baltimore will start for the American League in Tuesday's All - Star Game, while National League skipper Walt Alston leaned toward one of two left handers — Curt Simmons of the Phillies or Johnny Antonelli of the Giants.

American League Manager Casey Stengel had considered starting Early Wynn of Cleveland but those plans went out the window when Wynn pitched—and lost—the nightcap of a double-header with the White Sox Sunday.

Alston wants a southpaw to start for him because the American League's starting lineup is packed with such left-handed power hitters as Yogi Berra, Ted Williams and Vic Wertz. Alston also has Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn available to start but he indicated he would go with either Simmons or Antonelli.

Nationals Favored

The weatherman predicted a warm day for the game and the oddsmen predicted a National League victory.

Stan Musial of the St Louis Cardinals and Williams are the grandpappy types in the lineups. This will be Stan's 14th appearance in the classic and the 13th for Ted.

Musial is having one of his greatest years and the Boston belter is in the thick of the batting and home run race.

Other All - Star old-timers are Yogi Berra in his eighth, George Kell, the sixth, and Nellie Fox, the fifth. The only freshman on either starting lineup is Cincinnati third baseman Don Hoak

Using "Home" Park

Several factors contribute to the slim 6-to-5 edge the Nationals have in the betting odds They will be seeking their seventh victory in the last eight games of the inter-league rivalry and they will be playing in a National League park. Also, their combined batting average is nine points above the Americans even 300.

Going for the Americans, however, is an overall advantage of 13-10 in the big game, which dates back to 1933 and skips only the war year of 1945

This will be the third All - Star Game for St. Louis and it will be a rubber game as far as the city is concerned. The now - defunct Browns were hosts for an American League, 5-2, victory in 1948 and the Cards entertained for a 4-0 National Victory in 1940

Mon Valley All-Stars Nip GPL Entry' 4-3

The Mon Valley League's All-Stars scored three unearned runs to pin Mt. Washington, of the Greater Pittsburgh League, 4-3, on Saturday.

The game — which served as the sports feature of the Veterans' Week celebration in Charleroi — was played before a small crowd A rainfall during the afternoon apparently kept most of the fans away.

The Valley League All-Stars were limited to just four hits by Don Asmonga, the former all-state basketball sensation from Homestead High.

However Asmonga was victimized by some sloppy fielding which proved the difference.

Mike Young, of Monessen, stroked the only extra base hit for the winners, a triple.

Lyons Homers

For Mt Washington, John Lyons led off the fifth with a home run. Carl Kosak contributed two safeties to the Pittsburgh cause.

The All-Star pitching was sharp throughout the game. Fred Uhlman who worked three scoreless innings received credit for the win

Young Joe Hancharik of Perryopolis also turned in a great performance, striking out the side in the fourth inning.

Score by innings:

Mt. Wash.	000	020	001	83	7	3
All-Stars	020	010	0x—	4	4	3

Asmonga and Kosak; Uhlman, Hancharik, D. Young, K Barbao and Quattro, Cappelli; 2B — Murachko, 3B — Young; HR — Lyons.

Miteff-Fala In St. Nick's Bout

NEW YORK (UP)—Classy Alex Miteff and slugger Fernando Fala, two unbeaten 22-year-old heavyweights, will try to stretch their winning streaks tonight in a 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Miteff of Argentina is the favorite at 4-1 although he has had only about half as much professional experience as Fala, a native of Philadelphia.

Miteff, the former Pan - American amateur champion who turned professional in June 1956, has nine straight victories They include four knockouts. His best wins were decisions over Archie McBride 1st December and Willi Besmanoff of Germany on June 10.

Fala, with 17 straight victories under his belt, is making his New York debut. He boasts 12 knockouts, eight of them in his first eight fights after turning professional in November, 1954.

Ravens Take on Italian Hall in City Softball

Those round Ravens will try to move up a little in the City Softball League standings tonight when they meet Italian Hall at City Park.

The Ravens, who usually set the City League place, have been close to the cellar ever since the start of the current campaign. Of late they've shown signs of moving up a bit.

Tomorrow's City League action will match the Cro-Ams against the Myfords.

Ozarks Battle League-Leaders Away Tonight

Monessen's Mon Valley League entry, the Ozarks, still in the race for a playoff berth despite their "sputtering" play of late, take on the league-leading Fayette City entry away tonight

Showing an 11-14 mark, the Ozarks are only 3½ games out of fourth place and could move into a playoff slot with even a moderate win streak.

Ace hurler Bill Mitnick will undoubtedly take the hill against Fayette City.

Other games on tap in the MVL for tonight show Van Voorhis at Perryopolis, Charleroi at Donora and West Newton at New Eagle

Thomas Slams 3, Groat Two HRs in 10 - 6, 8 - 1 Victories

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, long suffering from lack of power, came home today from New York hopeful their long-ball hitters finally had come alive.

In a double-header with the New York Giants Sunday, Frank Thomas slammed out three home runs; Dick Groat had two round-trippers and a triple, and Hank Foiles, the Pirates' lone All-Star entree, had a two-run homer to lead an unusual Buccaneer batting display.

The Pirates won the first game 10-6, and the second, 8-1. They return to action Wednesday night against the Milwaukee Braves in a make-up game.

Thomas has had 12 home runs this season, of which seven came off Giant pitching. In addition to his three homers Sunday, he beat the Giants Saturday with a 13th inning round-tripper and homered in the Pirates' losing cause against New York Friday.

Only Score

The Giants' only score in the second game was ex-Pirates' infielder Danny O'Connell's homer in the eighth inning. It spoiled a shut-out for Pirate hurler Bob Friend, who allowed only four hits

Adding to the Pittsburgh home run production was Dick Rand, who smacked the first of his major league career.

Art Swanson was credited with the first game victory, although he needed help from Nelson King.

Charged with the losses were Al Worthington, one of four New York pitchers in the opener. Ruben Gomez, humbled chiefly by Groat's bases-loaded triple in the third, was the loser in the second game.

Rechichar was also a top athlete at Tennessee U. before joining the pro ranks.

Ravens Capture Lead in Little League Chase

Those spunky Ravens moved to the top of the American Division standings in the Little League on Saturday by swamping Page Local, 11-3.

The win was the fifth in eight second half assignments for the Birds who had a tough time staying out of the cellar during the first half race.

Paul Barton scattered six hits effectively and fanned ten to earn credit for the pitching win.

At bat, Ronald Chomko had two doubles and a triple in three appearances to pace the Birds offensive. Bob McFaddin chipped in with three singles.

Another scheduled game between VFW and Park Service was halted after three innings on Saturday by rain with the score tied at 4-4

Twin bills are scheduled in both Little League divisions tonight. Elks, already assured of the second half title, will meet the Legion while the first half champion CIO boys will take on the Lions at Memorial Stadium in the National League.

The American double-headers will match Page Local against VFW and the Ravens against Park Service.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

Helping the Ball

Put a golfer behind a bunker where he must get the ball up quickly and you have a man who had better fight down the urge to "help" the ball up with the hand action. It's this "helping" that hurts many of these little shots.

More often than not, the player will start out to hit the shot the way he should — down and through the ball, with the clubhead loft giving needed height to the ball. But just before clubhead and ball meet, he gets anxous and tries to lift the ball over with his hands. 6

That's when trouble starts.

The lifting action of the hands, intended to lift the ball, lifts the clubhead instead. The clubhead, thus lifted, hits the ball in the mid-section. Bang! goes the ball into the bunker.

The cure is simple: Don't get anxious. The clubhead will supply all the loft you need.

Prep and Minor League Action Resumes Tonight

Monessen's Prep and Minor League baseballers will resume action today after a weekend lull.

In the Prep League, the White Sox will go after their first win at the expense of the Rockets.

Over in the Minor League, the Braves will take on the Pirates in a battle for first place. Currently the Braves have a one game bulge over the runner-up Bucs.

Pittsburgher Checker Champ

Rudolph in 11 Rounds, No Losses

Herman L. Rudolph, of Pittsburgh, reigned today as the Pennsylvania checker champion for 1957.

He won that title yesterday in windup action of the annual state tournament at Monessen's Pythian Center.

Rudolph went through 11 rounds of tournament competition without a setback. He was awarded the championship Dr. Dubroff trophy by Mayor Hugo Parente.

The new champ also received the newly-established CIO Steelworkers Van Bitner Memorial Trophy as well as $75 in cash.

The runner-up in the tourney was John C. Bickerton, of West Elizabeth. He earned $55.

Two Losses

Bickerton lost to Howard J. Blumbling of Butler in the preliminaries and H. D. Kauffman of Harrisburg in the major tournament but took runner-up honors through the point system.

Third in the tourney was Anthony Koczinski, of New Castle. He won $45.

A threeway tie developed for fourth place. H. D Kauffman, McKeesport all shared fourth place money.

Monessen's Metro Haradin was seventh, winning $10. He had only two losses through 11 rounds, bowing to Altman and Rudolph.

The point system scoring of one point for draws prevented Haradin from finishing higher in the final tourney list.

Minor Winner

In the minor division, Milton Kemmerer, of Bethlehem, was declared the winner. Mayor Parente had an award for him, too, plus a cash prize of $45.

Other winners in the minor tourney in order were John R. Parry, Bethlehem; and Elliott R. Baker, New Bloomfield (tied for second); Albert E. Jenkins, Philadelphia; Albert Ward, Washington, James Donaldson, Altoona and S. Strayer, South Park.

Films of the tournament, which started on the Fourth of July, will be presented tonight over KDKA-TV at 6:15 p. m.

The four-day event was sponsored this year by the Mon Valley Checker Club.

Lions vs. Ravens in PONY Play

The second place Ravens will challenge the league-leading Lions in tonight's PONY League feature at Ninth Street Park.

That tussle, which will decide the first place occupant for the time being, will begin immediately after the Eagles and CIO complete their brawl which will start at 5 p. m.

At the moment, the Lions lead the league with a 10-4 record. A win over the Birds will give them a two-game edge.

On the other hand, a Raven win will create a two-way tie for the top rung in the standings.

A twin bill is also on tap tomorrow in the PONY League. CIO will meet the Ravens in the opener while the Lions will take on the Eagles in the nightcap.

Moore Must Sign By Saturday Or Lose 175 Crown

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—Archie Moore must sign by Saturday for a defense of his light heavyweight title or be stripped of the 175-pound crown, National Boxing Assn. President Floyd Stevens said today.

The aging Moore's title was supposed to have been vacated Sunday but Steven agreed to give the champion until Saturday to sign for a defense after a plea by Charlie Johnston, manager of the light heavyweight king.

Steven said Johnston called him July 4 and "told me a bout with Tony Anthony was all but signed. He said he needed more time to tie up television details so I've made up my mind to wait until Saturday."

However, Steven pointed out that Moore won't actually have to defend his title until August 30 because he understands that was the defense deadline set by the World Boxing Commission.

But the NBA president said he will stick to his demand that Moore sign for the defense by Saturday or lose the title.

Little League District 8 Tourney Plans Are Announced Today

Initial plans for the Little District 8 tournament in which Monessen's two entries will compete were formulated at a meeting yesterday and announced this morning.

Both local entries, the Americans and Nationals, drew first round byes and will not see action until next Monday night when both play at home. Other entries will start action this week.

Ten teams comprise the Western half of District 8, including two Brownsville nines, Denbo, Glassport, two McKeesport teams, Port Vue, Donora and the two Monessen entries. For the first time in several seasons valley entry Monongahela is not represented in this district having been switched to another area of competition.

Next Monday evening the local Americans will meet the winner of the Glassport-Donora tilt, carded for Friday of this week, at the Annex Field here. Meanwhile, the Monessen Nationals will be taking on the McKeesport Americans at the Stadium, Monday, July 15.

Phil Parkinson, of West Brownsville, assistant to District Director John Spisso, of Scottdale, will supervise play in the Western section of District 8. The eventual winner of the Western play will meet the Eastern winner from an entry list of the following: Connellsville, Derry, Elizabeth, Latrobe, Mt. Pleasant, Murraysville, Pitcairn, Scottdale, West Newton, and Sewickley Township.

The locals All-Star squads will be announced later this week as will additional details on the tourney, the delay in naming the local Stars" being due to an eligibility check-up by local officials.

To Begin Classes In Flycasting

The Department of Recreation today announced the introduction of a new activity, fly casting, into the summer-fall program.

Registration will be conducted at Memorial Civic Center in the Department of Recreation Office this week between the hours of 1 to 4.

This group will include boys and girls (over 10 years of age) and men and women.

Tentative opening dates for fly casting classes are scheduled for the week of July 15.

Yanks, Cards Moving Way Out In Front of Rival Contenders

By MILTON RICHMAN

The first half of the 1957 major league season now is history, and it will take one of the greatest second-half drives in history to catch either the Yankees or Cardinals at the breakneck clip they are traveling now.

Both the Yanks and Cards are 2½ games ahead in their respective pennant races today as all the teams pause for the annual All-Star break.

The Yankees are whizzing along at a phenomenal .846 pace with 22 victories in their last 26 games. And the Cardinals are zipping along at a .722 figure with 26 out of their last 36, a pace that finally has begun to unravel what was one of the tightest National League races ever.

The world champion Yankees made it four in a row Sunday when they came from behind to defeat Washington, 7-5, while St. Louis swept a double-header from Cincinnati, winning the opener, 3-2 in 10 innings and the nightcap, 9-6.

In other American League games, the White Sox swept a pair from the Indians, taking the 13-inning opener, 9-8, and the second game, 7-2. Detroit topped Kansas City, 5-2, and Baltimore beat Boston, 8-4.

Dodgers Dumped Twice

Philadelphia took both ends of a double-header from Brooklyn, 2-1 and 5-3, to move back into the first division in the National League; the Pirates beat the Giants twice, 10-6 and 8-1, and Milwaukee defeated Chicago, 4-2.

Yogi Berra's double with the bases full highlighted a four-run rally by the Yanks in the eighth inning after they had trailed the Senators, 2-1. Gil McDougald clinched the contest with a two-run homer in the ninth. Art Ditmar gained the victory in relief of Whitey Ford.

Jim Rivera tripled to open the 13th inning for the White Sox, then came home with the winning run in the opener on Luis Aparicio's single. Jack Harshman checked the Indians on five hits in the nightcap as the White Sox got to Early Wynn for three runs in the first inning on four hits and a walk.

Al Kaline and Charley Maxwell each connected for homers, driving in all of Detroit's five runs between them in the victory over Kansas City. Paul Foytack posted his ninth victory with a seven hitter.

Lanky Connie Johnson of the Orioles stopped the Red Sox on seven hits and Bob Nieman drove in four of Baltimore's runs as Tom Brewer suffered his eighth setback.

Cunningham Big Gun

Joe Cunningham drove in all three Cardinal runs in the opener, hitting a two-run homer in the first inning and then singling home the winning run in the 10th. Sam Jones was the winner in relief of bonus rookie Von McDaniel, who gave up both Cincinnati runs in the seven innings he worked.

Rookie Bobby Gene Smith drove in four runs in the nightcap and Wally Moon three as Wilmer Mizell won in relief.

Ed Bouchee's ninth-inning homer off Sal Maglie gave the Phils their opening game victory over Brooklyn and ex-Dodger Chico Fernandez decided the nightcap with a three-run double that broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth.

Frank Thomas and Dick Groat combined talents to lead the Pirates to their sweep over the Giants. Thomas hit three homers in the twin bill to drive in five runs while Groat drove in six runs with a homer in each game and a bases-loaded triple in the finale.

Lew Burdette of the Braves won his first game since May 18 when he held the Cubs to six hits. The Braves got to Cub starter Dave Hillman for three runs in the first inning on a walk, Hank Aaron's single and triples by Wes Covington and Frank Torre.

Spragg, Betus Cop in MVCC Member-Guest

Top honors in the member-guest tournament at Monongahela Country Club yesterday were garnered by J. A. Spragg and Ed Betus with a 72 for the low gross, best-ball twosome laurels.

Best-ball foursome honors went to the team of Tom Johnson, C. R. McConnell, H. Greeban and J. McHugh with a 68.

Other results were:

Low net twosome — Bill Hancock and Jack Cline, 67.

Second low net twosome — H. Greeban and J. McHugh and C. R. McConnell and Tom Johnson, 68.

Low net foursome — Bud Nuss, J. Love, J. Karnack and C. Karnack, 64.

Nearest to pin on fourth hole — third stroke — Dr. H. Underwood.

Longest putt on fourth hole — H. Greeban.

Nearest to pin on sixth hole — J. Karnack.

Other weekend action at MVCC found H. Boardman dropping a 4 and 3 match to W. H. Sharp in a first-round of President's Cup play.

Meanwhile Jim Venturi and J. A. Spragg shared weekend low gross honors, both with 84s.

Lawn Fete Opens Tonight At St. Sebastion Church

Tonight will mark the opening of the week long lawn fete being held on the grounds of the St. Sebastian Church, Broad Ave.

The affair is an annual event and is being sponsored by the Holy Name Society and the women of the parish. The co-chairmen are Harry Touche and Joseph Barger.

A special feature will be the serving of dinner in the church school every evening of the week. Spaghetti and meat balls will be served each evening and in addition tonight the patrons may order cabbage rolls, on Wednesday, chicken and dumplings and Friday, peroghi. No spaghetti will be served on Friday.

Along with the usual attractions there will be dancing every evening and a Kiddie Korner with at least ten games of interest to children. This feature will be supervised by Gil Marasco.

A bake sale will also be held with a different group of parish women preparing the baked goods for the various evenings. Fresh pizza and doughnuts will be available at all times during the affair.

Highlighting the "surprise package" booth will be the auction of parcels received from famous people especially for this week's fair. Religious articles will also be on sale.

The public is invited to participate in all the features of the lawn fete.

Mrs. Edward E. Mills, of Sacramento, Calif., has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Miriam Donovan, of California, Pa., and her mother-in-law and family, Mrs. E. W. Mills, of East Belle Vernon.

Diane and Raymond DeSanto, children of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. DeSanto, of Pittsburgh, are spending their vacation with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mills, of East Belle Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dobson, of Broad Ave., were Uniontown visitors last night.

Annual Picnic Day Tomorrow

Activity in Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon, Washington Township and Fayette City will be suspended tomorrow in order that all local residents may attend the annual Community Picnic at Kennywood Park.

The outing is being sponsored by the volunteer fire departments of the four participating communities. Special bus transportation has been arranged from each town and amusement tickets have been sold at a reduced rate.

The annual prizes will be given at the park and several other special features are being planned.

Fire trucks will parade through the streets tonight to add to the pre-picnic enthusiasm.

District Store Contest Winner

The S and Y super market at Belle Vernon, R. D., has been informed they are among the winners in the recent nationwide egg dye display contest sponsored by the Paas Dye Co. of Newark, N. J., manufacturers of Easter egg colors.

Owned and operated by Raymond C. Yakubic, Dorothy Yakubic and George R. Sweeney, II, the market was opened last fall and is the nucleus of a future shopping center in that area.

The winning display, featuring a huge Easter egg basket designed and constructed by Raymond Yakubic, was picked from entries received from all over the country.

New Officers Take Charge at Lions Meeting

New officers were in charge of the Wednesday evening meeting of the Washington Township Lions Club held in the social rooms of the Marion Presbyterian Church. Emil Dolfi, newly installed president, presided.

Committee chairmen for the year were named.

After invocation by Ewing Trickett the group singing was led by Edward Breakwell.

Plans were completed for the annual carnival to be held the week of July 29. Arthur Mallonee is general chairman and he named the various booth and committee chairmen. The carnival will be set up on the grounds at the rear of Conway's store.

Anthony Wiseman reported on the birthday calendar project. He stated that Oscar Sabatini was the first team captain to complete his section.

The attendance report for the past year was given. Charles Miller and Ray Helterbran gave the audit report.

Emil VanKulich reported on the Lions International Convention, which he attended in San Francisco, Cal.

The tailtwister's party will feature a trip to a Pittsburgh Pirate baseball game on July 12.

Members unable to attend the regular dinner sessions wert instructed that they must contact Ewing Trickett by 10 a. m. on the previous Monday.

A director's session was set for this evening at the Dolfi home.

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heasley, of Wilkinsburg, are the parents of a son born June 22 in the Columbia Hospital. Mrs. Heasley is the former Wilma Lange of Belle Vernon and her mother, Mrs. Catherine Lange has been visiting with her and her family. The new baby has been named Ronald Preston.

Argentina, Venezuela 'Interrupt' Relations

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—Argentina and Venezuela "interrupted" diplomatic relations Sunday in a dispute over charges that former dictator Juan D. Peron is using Venezuela as a base for efforts to overthrow the Argentine government.

Gen. Carlos Toranzo Montero, the Argentine ambassador to Venezuela, was scheduled to fly here from Panama, where he arrived from Caracas Sunday after the Venezuelan government ordered him out of the country.

Venezuela declared Toranzo Montero persona non grata two days after ordering Dr. Atilano Carnevali, its ambassador to Argentina, to return to Caracas.

Argentine Foreign Minister Alfonso de la Ferre said diplomatic relations with Venezuela had been "interrupted". Diplomatic observers here said interruption is just a step short of a complete break.

Toranzo Montero delivered a note to Venezuelan authorities July 4 in which he charged Peron violated his asylum in Venezuela by planning a coup against the Argentine provisional government.

However, Venezuelan president Marcos Perez Jiminez told newsmen in Caracas the note had nothing to do with Toranzo Montero's ouster. He said the diplomat was ordered to leave the country because his actions were "offensive to the dignity of the nation."

Toranzo Montero told United Press in Panama Sunday night he presented documents to the Venezuelan Foreign Ministry containing "overwhelming proof Peron is leading sabotage and subversive acts from Caracas which for the Argentine people may cost blood."

Door Was 'Clean'

DUBUQUE, Iowa (UP) — Leona Hertensen of Clinton, Iowa, was treated for multiple cuts after a visit to a dress shop. She walked through a plate glass window, thinking it was a door.

Mabel Shupe Is Devotion Leader At Church Class

The What-So-Ever Class of Olive Baptist Church met Friday at the home of Elizabeth Lynn with Mabel Shupe as devotional leader.

The leader read from the 33rd psalm. Her topic pertained to articles about the Fourth of July. After reading a poem, "Sunday Shoppers", she offered prayer.

The hostesses were Audrey Rathway, Mary White, Marjory Regotti, and Elizabeth Lynn. Others present were Dora Gallo, Dorothy Branthoover, Florence Frank, Viola Lynn, Marian Patterson, Alice Lynn and Anna Marie Flora.

Business was in charge of Louise Miller, president. Reports were read by Sara Pekonen, secretary and Erma Kuma, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Forsythe and children, Eddie and Susan, attended the family reunion of Mrs. Forsythe's father at Shawnee Park. It is known as the Thompson reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarenton Weaver and son, Bobby, have returned home after spending several days with Mrs. Weaver's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Greenawalt, of Lebanon.

Navyman George Pollock, stationed at Norfolk, Va., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Makovsky. He now is preparing for a nine-week sea jaunt.

A series of children's church meetings is being held every Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at Riverside Tabernacle. The Rev. Thorpe is pastor.

Gwen Wood, of Johnson Ave., is spending a two-week vacation at Percy Crawford's camp in the Poconos.

Mr. and Mrs. John Skurkay and children, Patty and Mary Jo, are vacationing in Ohio.

Clarence Bush, of Pricedale Union Church, was guest speaker Sunday at the Belle Vernon Baptist Church.

Seven Persons Killed in Crash Of Cars Head-on

NEWHALL, Calif. (UP)—Seven persons, including a family of five were killed Sunday when two cars collided head-on and burst into flames in one of the nation's worst traffic accidents of the holiday weekend.

The California Highway Patrol said bodies of the victims were burned beyond recognition. There were no survivors of the grinding crash which occurred 10 miles north of here on U.S. Highway 6.

The family, returning from a holiday outing, was riding in a station wagon. Officers said the other car apparently skidded while rounding a curve and crossed the dividing line, smashing into the station wagon.

The gasoline tank of the station wagon exploded upon impact, engulfing both cars in flames and trapping the victims. It took firemen more than an hour to extinguish the fire and remove the charred bodies from the wreckage

KIDS ENJOY SWIM — This is the new swimming pool at the Pennsylvania Junior Republic, a model correctional school in Mercer County, which was dedicated July 4. Many former students contributed to the pool. A homecoming and reunion featured the observance.

Japanese Mob Halts Use of Field by U. S.

TOKYO (UP) — A mob of angry demonstrators attempting to block expansion of the Tachikawa U.S. Air Force Base smashed through a barbed wire fence surrounding the field today and forced American authorities to cancel flights for more than six hours.

The mob of about 4,000 persons —most of them students—sullenly withdrew when 1,600 Japanese police rushed to the scene and threatened to eject them by force.

A Japanese government survey team planning extension of runways at the giant air field completed their work and returned to Tokyo a few minutes before the demonstrators crashed through the fence.

Crowds Arrive Early

Crowds protesting plans to annex private land adjoining the U. S. base began arriving here Sunday. They set up tents, set off strings of firecrackers and chanted anti-American slogans throughout the night.

Youths stuck long bamboo poles in the mud at the end of the runways, causing U.S. authorities to reroute incoming military planes to other fields. They threw rocks at U.S. Air Force planes on the ground and set fire to gasoline which they poured on one runway.

The mob slowly backed off the field when Japanese police arrived on the scene and told them to go home.

Three policemen were injured by flying stones, but there were no casualties among the demonstrators.

Suddenly four big transports roared in for landings, swooping so low their propellers nearly hit the barricade of Bamboo poles. Demonstrators and police, who had been facing each other grimly, ducked low as the big planes roared onto the field.

Police in blue and khaki uniforms piled into trucks and armored cars to return home when it appeared the tension was broken. The demonstrators cheered, uprooted the bamboo poles, dismantled their tents, pulled down their banners, and marched off singing, arms linked.

To Take Vows as Benedictine Monks

LATROBE, Pa. (UP) — Two Pennsylvania men will take vows as Benedictine monks next Thursday before the Right Rev. Dennis O. Strittmatter, archabbot of St. Vincent.

They are Fraters Maurice W. Rudiselle, Greensburg, and Duane Maxmillan Duman, Ebensburg.

It took some 12 years to design and mount the 105-foot Colossus of Rhodes, one of the original seven wonders of the world.

Supreme Court Hears Arguments On Girard Case

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government's chief trial lawyer predicted today the Supreme Court will rule that GI William S. Girard should be turned over to Japan for trial for killing a Japanese woman.

Counsel for the 21-year-old Ottawa, Ill., soldier forecast with equal confidence the court will insist on an American trial for Girard.

The conflicting claims were made as eight members of the high court prepared to meet in extraordinary session to hear formal arguments on the explosive Girard case. Justice William O. Douglas was in the Near East on an Asian tour and decided after conferring with his colleagues not to rush back for today's session.

The case has created a furor here and in Japan. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has said the reputation of this country for honoring its commitments is at stake. The United States agreed to let Japan try Girard but Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy ruled otherwise June 18. The government is appealing this decision.

Because of the great importance the government attaches to the case the high court, which ended its session two weeks ago, stayed over to hear the case. The only comparable occasion in modern times was when the court interrupted its vacation in 1953 to hear an appeal in the Rosenberg spy case.

West's Outlaws Giving Wyatt Earp Troubles

COLMA, Calif. (UP) — Wyatt Earp has been dead 28 years, but the West's outlaws are still giving him trouble.

A pair of thieves broke into the Hills of Eternity Memorial Park Sunday and stole the tombstone marking the graves of Earp and his wife, Josephine.

The thieves dug two feet into the ground in a futile effort to find the urn holding the remains of the legendary U.S. marshal.

The 300-pound granite stone bore the inscription, "Wyatt Earp 1848-1929, Josephine Earp 1861-1944." It measured 16 inches wide and 22 inches long.

Tom Finn, a gardener at the cemetery, noticed the marker was gone when he reported for work Sunday morning. Police found the footprints of two men beside the grave. They said the thieves probably carried the stone to a truck or car.

Morris Colton, superintendent of the cemetery located in a San Francisco suburb, said many persons had visited the grave since its location became publicized last spring.

Mindful Thief

DES MOINES (UP) — Gerald Jewett parked his station wagon at Municipal Airport last week and left on a business trip. When he returned five days later he found the vehicle just where he parked it, but a window was broken and the speedometer had 400 extra miles on it.

An Afterthought

MIAMI (UP) — Police said thieves breaking into Donald A. Forsblade's apartment put pleasure before business. The looters cooked a meal in the kitchen and drank six cold beers before making off with $242 worth of Forsblade's belongings.

2 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear daughter, sister and mother, Mrs Margaret Konik Wysochanski, who died eight years ago, July 7, 1949
We live today with memories
Of days when you were here.
We miss you still and always will
Throughout each day and year.
At night when all is silent
And sleep forsakes our eyes
Our thoughts are in that lonely grave
Where our dear loved one lies
Gone from this world so swiftly,
Plucked like a flower in bloom,
So young, so fair, so lovely,
Called away too soon
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep
Sadly missed by Parents, Brother Sister and Children

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Modesta Bodoia, who died 12 years ago today, July 8, 1945
We loved you in life, you are dear to us still,
In grief we must bend to God's holy will,
Parting was pain, the shock hard to bear.
Now angels attend you in heaven with care,
But unknown to the world,
You stand by our side
And whisper dear loved ones,
Death cannot divide
Sadly missed by Mother, Sisters and Brothers

Six Killed as Result of Jet Slamming House

SINGAPORE (UP) — Four persons were killed today when a British jet fighter crashed into a house, and two others were killed and six injured when a fire engine racing to the scene collided with a truck.

The Venom jet fighter crashed into a two-story house in the married quarters section of the Tengah Royal Air Force Station near Singapore, killing two women, one child and the pilot

One of two fire engines racing to the crash scene collided with a truck about one mile from the air base. The driver and helper were killed and five firemen and a civilian were injured in the pileup.

Wrist watches were believed to have been worn originally by the nobility of Europe in the 17th century.

Ike Returns to Work

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenbower, like millions of Americans, returned to work from the long weekend today wearing a July 4 sunburn.

He avoided the weekend traffic that plagued other holiday seekers flying in his personal aero-commander on a 25-minute flight from Gettysburg, Pa.

But the White House limousine that met him at the airport had to fight the morning traffic rush on the 15-minute drive to the White House.

The President returned at an early hour because of a comparatively heavy appointment schedule. His first meeting was scheduled with Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of his council of economic advisers.

Eisenhower spent a quiet day at the farm Sunday with Mrs. Eisenhower and their weekend house guests — Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Alton Jones and Gen. and Mrs. Alfred M Gruenther.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.® At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Ed Sullivan's Aide Talks About His Boss

(William Ewald is on vacation. Today's writer is Carmine Santullo, right hand man to Ed Sullivan for 23 years.)

By CARMINE SANTULLO

NEW YORK (UP) — I've known and worked with my boss, Ed Sullivan, for 23 years. We met first when he played his second week in Vaudeville at Loew's State Theatre on Broadway.

I was a kid then, working backstage, and I used to take his column from the theatre over to the New York Daily News. Twenty three years later, I'm still doing that, and a variety of other things, too.

What sort of a man is Ed Sullivan? Well, offhand, I'd say that he is an incredible worker with an enormous power of concentration and a tremendous competitive instinct. TV was made to order for him. His experience in Vaudeville and in staging World War II shows at Madison Square Garden and in military hospitals equipped him with a keep knowledge of acts and performers that was to come in hand in TV. Couple that background with his ability to get along well with all sorts of people plus his good taste and you have it, in a nutshell.

Quick Decisions

He can also be a pain in the neck to those who work with him closely.

Because he makes decisions quickly, always has since I knew him, he expects everybody else to work with equal swiftness. For nine solid years, he's had to put on 52 shows a year plus everything else he must do, so, every June I start dusting out the storm cellar. June is generally the month when his nerves get frazzled.

This June was no exception. How did I handle him. Just took him in stride. If he looked icily at me, I looked back with equal frigidity. Or I just said that I was going out to get a sandwich.

Usually, that night, I'll get a call at my house. "Carmine, if I acted rudely today, please forgive me. My nerves were bouncing."

You can't stay mad at a guy like that. Particularly so, because in all the basic things, he is 100 per cent.

He is very sentimental. Not long ago, he got all of his work finished in advance so he could go down to Fred Waring's Shawnee-on-the-Delaware inn to play in a one-day golf tournament. This was to be a big vacation. But on the same night, his home town, Port Chester, N. Y., was honoring the high school baseball team. So he played the round of golf, jumped into his car and drove almost 100 miles to get to Port Chester to make his speech at 8:30 p.m.

Right On Time

He didn't have his shower, didn't have his dinner, but he was there on the dot. Without even being there, I know he signed hundreds of autographs enthusiastically and made every player on the team feel he was getting a genuine thrill out of meeting them. And he was.

Since I first met him, Ed always has thought big. He never seemed to be vastly concerned about money. Long before anyone on TV ever signed acts for big salaries, he did it quite casually. He signed Elvis Presley for $50,000 because he was certain it would pay off in excitement for a nine-year old show. It certainly did. He gave Sonja Heinie $13,000 to skate three minutes in her TV debut. the reason NBC has had rough sledding with my boss is that he isn't a penny pincher.

When they sit in with Ed in a poker game for talent, bet on him. As far as ratings go, this past year, in 52 Sunday shows, the Ed Sullivan show won 48, NBC won 4

Brown-eyed Parents Have Blue-eyed Tots

By H. N. BUNDESEN M. D.

Ever wonder why some parents with brown eyes have blue-eyed children?

Well, it's due to a recessive factor.

Somewhere, perhaps generations ago, relatives of both parents had blue eyes. Such recessive traits may skip several generations but reappear when both parents carry the same hereditary factors.

Color of the eyes is not the only factor which can be passed on like this from one generation to another.

In fact, the Better Vision Institute reports scientists have established that more than 100 different eye traits are inherited. These range from minor imperfections to total blindness.

Among these inherited factors are some sex-linked traits which may be transmitted either by the father or the mother.

One example of this is color-blindness.

Let's say a woman with normal vision marries a man who can't tell red from green.

Their sons and daughters will be able to distinguish red and green; but the daughters will carry a sex-linked factor for colorblindness which they may transmit to some or all of their sons.

Should any of the daughters marry a man suffering color-blindness, their daughters, as well as their sons, may inherit the deficiency.

Nearsightedness, farsightedness and crossed-eyes also may be inherited.

Many doctors believe that glaucoma can be inherited, too.

This is a disease which brings an abnormally high pressure within the eye. Unless it is treated promptly, it may cause blindness.

All of this should be of definite interest to all of you, expecially those of you who have children. If a serious disease such as glaucoma is among the visual traits of your family, have your eyes and those of your children checked at least once a year.

Only in this way can you be sure of detecting any disorder promptly.

Here Are Parliamentary Steps Expected in Civil Rights Battle

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate is heading into another civil rights filibuster in which the South will be arrayed against senators from most of the other states.

In what is often regarded as a gentlemen's club, there will be a kind of jungle warfare with victory going to the side with the best captains and the effective power. The southerners need fewer troops to win, but they know they are weaker this year than in the past.

Because Senate rules permit almost unlimited debate, southern Democrats long have used them to make the Senate a graveyard for civil rights bills intended primarily to protect Negroes. The filibuster often has been used by other Senate blocs, too, particularly western liberals.

A filibuster is an ancient device used by a minority to kill a bill by talking it to death. It puts a premium on parliamentary skill and experience. The southerners are well endowed with both. A filibuster also puts a premium on physical stamina for long speeches by individual senators opposed to the bill. It also taxes the strength of other senators when the time arrives for long and perhaps around the clock sessions. Senators nap in cloakrooms or offices while a speaker addresses an almost empty chamber. When he stops, there must be enough of them nearby (49) to answer a quorum call so the Senate can remain in session.

In a 1954 filibuster against an atomic energy bill, the Senate was in continuous session for 85 hours and 54 minutes, broken by a single recess of 25 minutes. It then recessed over Sunday and returned for a continuous session of 35 hours and 57 minutes before the bill was passed.

Everyone concerned in the civil rights dispute agrees that the bill should be debated thoroughly. When a "debate" becomes a "filibuster" is frequently a matter of argument.

Begin Leisurely

However this may be, the Senate can be expected to begin on a more or less leisurely schedule, with the leadership gradually putting on the pressure for longer and longer sessions to give everyone a chance to talk himself out.

The possibilities for parliamentary maneuvering are almost unlimited, but the sequence can be expected to develop this way:

—When the Senate convened at noon today, it had first to approve its journal of proceedings for Friday. This requirement was once a serious stumbling block, because it was subject to debate, but the Senate's antifilibuster rule now can be invoked on this normally routine procedure. Advance indications were that the southerners would not filibuster against approval of the journal.

—Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland planned to move about 2 p.m. e.d.t. to take up a House approved civil rights bill. A rarely used parliamentary manuever kept this bill on the Senate calendar and away from the Judiciary Committee, where action had been blocked this year by a filibuster of another type.

Long Debate Seen

—The Knowland motion doubtless will be debated for days. Each senator may speak only twice on the motion as long as a majority votes to "recess" and not "adjourn" overnight. In past years the Senate has seldom reached a vote on a motion to take up a civil rights bill. Different circumstances made ultimate adoption of this motion almost certain this year.

—Once the motion is adopted, the bill itself is before the Senate and subject to unlimited amendment and debate, unless the anti filibuster or cloture rule is applied.

Storms in the West

By UNITED PRESS

Cooler air swept through the plains today, denting a heat wave with an outburst of severe thunderstorms and occasional tornado clouds.

The storm line extended from eastern Nebraska through southern Minnesota and northern Iowa. Winds up to 60 m.p.h. accompanied a series of violent electrical storms.

Grand Island, Neb., was pounded by winds up to 81 m.p.h. early today, causing minor property damage. A funnel cloud was sighted north of Albert Lea, Minn., but apparently it failed to touch the ground. Another twister was sighted near Madison, Wis., but there was no damage.

Readings climbed into the upper 90s as far north as Nebraska Sunday before dropping as cool Pacific air overspread the region.

Thunderstorms and high winds in advance of the cooler air also buffeted Michigan during the night. The Kalamazoo, Mich., area was hit by hail stones one - half inch in diameter.

The cooler air extended over most of the plains, the Rockies and the inter-mountain region. Its influence was felt in the desert Southwest where readings "dropped" into the 90s as compared with 100-degree readings the night before.

Weathermen said thunderstorms are expected today from the Great Lakes region to the northern Appalachians. Scattered afternoon thundershowers are seen for the plains states, and generally fair weather is expected on the West Coast.

Ike's Legislation Appears Doomed

By UNITED PRESS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Some of President Eisenhower's pet legislation appeared destined today to wind up on the scrap heap as the result of the long fight expected over civil rights.

Congress has still to pass the foreign aid bill but final approval may have to await the end of the rights debate. The same with two other appropriations bill — defense and agriculture.

The row over rights will drive the last nail into the coffin of the federal aid to school measure, already considered a casualty of the budget battle.

A bill to increase postal rates was as good as posted in Congress' dead letter office. And any chance for passage of bills to broaden minimum wage coverage and provide Hawaiian statehood, both unlikely prospects anyway at the beginning of the year, went out the window.

The outlook was uncertain for immigration legislation. The Senate whipped a bill through quickly last year and could do so again.

Other congressional news:

Military: The House mustered its forces for a battle over a Democratic proposal to give the Senate or House veto power on whether the military can continue shutting down their commercial-type activities such as bakeries and shoe shops. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has closed down many such activities under pressure from businessmen who object to the competition.

Information: The House government operations subcommittee summoned Navy and Air Force information chiefs in its investigation into the information practices of the military services. Opponents of military secrecy said they would show that the Pentagon itself okayed the release of information later said to be security "leaks."

Supreme Court: Senators continued to clash over recent Supreme Court decisions in the field of individual rights. Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) called for the impeachment of justices who approved rights decisions he said hampered Congress and the government in fighting Communism. But Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.) said critics should turn from denouncing the court to dealing with the "unconstitutional and unlawful procedures" cited by the justices.

Kefauver: Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said his Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee will begin an investigation into pricing practices in industry. He called for a "complete and thorough diagnosis" to determine the cause of inflation in the nation. The inquiry, he said, will deal with industries which maintain "administered prices — posted prices at which they will sell regardless of the fluctuation of demand."

Red China: Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) called for a "fresh look" at U.S. policies toward Red China including restrictions on trade and the admittance of newsmen to that country. He also said in the preface of a study completed by library of Congress experts that "it is essential" to bring the Red nation into any worldwide disarmament system "at an early date." Humphrey said the United States should change its position to take advantage of any loosening of ties between Peiping and Moscow.

She's 'Too Old'

OOLITIC, Ind. (UP)—Fred Walden complained to a justice of the peace that a neighbor jumped over his four-foot fence and salted his petunias. But Mrs. Lily Lawyer, 55, said "I'm too old and stiff to jump even a three-foot fence."
